Australia

Menzies May Resign, Election in Offing

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Following the decision of the Labor caucus at Canberra today opposing Prime Minister R. G. Menzies' going to London to sit with the British war cabinet, animated debate ensued in Parliament.

After John Curtin, Labor leader, had defended the decision of the caucus, Navy Minister W. M. Hughes emphasized the need of the best representation in London. He said Australia needed America's help in the Pacific and the only one who could induce the United States to send ships to the south Pacific was Britain.

There was much talk in the lobbies of a possible election on the issue.

Government parties approved the proposal that Mr. Menzies go to England.

Effect of the Labor party's decision is that the party will not oppose Mr. Menzies' going to London provided he first relinquished the premiership.

Mr. Menzies announced after a meeting with government parties that they agreed, with one dissent, that he should go to London as Prime Minister. However, he already has declared that he will not go to Britain in that capacity if opposed by any party.

Observers say the only step left is for the cabinet to accept or reject the Labor recommendation. If it rejects it, the present unofficial political truce will end and the government will be challenged almost immediately on the conduct of the war.

On the other hand, if the cabinet accepts the recommendations it must ask Mr. Menzies to relinquish the premiership before it is able to offer him formally the overseas position.

Thus, the final choice is said to rest with Mr. Menzies himself.

Leningrad in 'Dread Danger', Odessa Blasted by Big Guns, Bombs

Canadian and Associated Press

Hitler's high command claimed today German troops had smashed three main bulwarks of Leningrad's outer defence system, and the Russians acknowledged the old-time Czarist capital is in "dread danger."

Challenging an official Russian order for a right to defend Leningrad to the death, the Berlin radio declared that if the city were defended it would suffer the fate of Warsaw, which was largely destroyed by Nazi bombers and siege guns when the Poles refused to surrender.

The Red Army northwest command admitted Leningrad was under "direct threat of attack," but the Russians expressed confidence the city's defences—with an estimated garrison of 1,000,000 men—would hold.

NAZIS CLAIM NOVGOROD

The German high command claimed Nazi troops moving toward Leningrad from the south had captured the ancient walled city of Novgorod, 100 miles below Leningrad, in bitter fighting against the Red Army defenders.

The high command also claimed capture of Narva, 81 miles southwest of Leningrad, and Kingisepp, six miles farther east.

In the battle of the Ukraine, the Germans claimed units of the elite guard had seized the town of Kherson, on the west bank of the lower Dnieper River.

FIRES IN ODESSA

DNB, German news agency, asserted Nazi siege guns and dive bombers were raining havoc on Odessa, inflicting losses on Soviet troops allegedly awaiting embarkation off jammed quays. Fires were reported in many parts of the city.

Unconfirmed reports circulated in European listening posts that the Russians had opened or blown up the great $100,000,000 Dnieper River dam, near Dnieperpetrovsk, in an attempt to stem the Nazi onslaught.

LONDON GLOOMY

Authoritative quarters in London made no attempt to hide what they regard as the gravity of the Russian position.

These quarters were frankly gloomy in discussing the situation, although they said they had no official confirmation of reports the Nazis had smashed their way across the Dnieper River south of Dnieperpetrovsk or that retreating Russians had blown up the great dam.

TRY TO CUT LINE

The Germans appeared to be attempting to cut across the Moscow-Leningrad railway, thus halting supplies, and then to smash northward to the shores of Lake Ladoga and thereby cut off Leningrad.

1,500-MILE FRONT

The 1,500-mile front from which the Germans were ceaselessly attacking today runs in a jagged line from Narva, below Leningrad at the Estonian border, to Kherson, near the Black Sea at the mouth of the Dnieper.

LENINGRAD GETS SOME GOOD WAR NEWS—If the citizens within the Soviet Union hear as many conflicting war claims from the Russians and Germans as we do, here's one bit of news they can be sure of. It's a captured German plane, just put on exhibit in the main square of Leningrad, the Soviet Union's second city. Photo was flashed from Moscow by radio.

to Novgorod, the line turns south along the western shore of Lake Ilmen and then goes southwestward to Velikieluki and Gorodok.

'Stand Firm to End'

Marshal Klementi Voroshilov's appeal to the people of Leningrad to defend their homes to the death follows:

"The enemy is attempting to penetrate into Leningrad. He wants to destroy our houses, our factories and workshops, to rob the people and to shed the blood of innocent victims, to kill the peaceful population and wreck the freedom of our country.

"With our own hands we have built the powerful factories and workshops of Leningrad, the remarkable buildings and gardens and they will not fall into the hands of the German robbers.

"It is not the first time the people of Leningrad are repelling the advancing enemy and this time once more the dastardly plans of the enemy will not be fulfilled. Let neither bombing nor other difficulties interrupt preparation for aerial and land defence. Stand firm to the end. At the risk of our lives we will fight the enemy and destroy him. Death to the bloody Fascist German robbers."

Telling the inhabitants they must not be caught unawares, the marshal called on city dwellers to follow the example of the soldiers.

"Women: Inspire your husbands, your sons and brothers," he said.

"Young men: Join detachments for defence.

"Workers: Leningrad will need more and more arms so as to ensure men at the front sufficient arms and ammunition.

"Workers and engineers of Leningrad: Work for defence of the country, defence of your own city with even greater selflessness, with no respite and with the full knowledge of responsibility of the decisive part played by production. In addition to bombing the Germans have in store yet more abominable measures.

"Comrades of Leningrad: Today there is no limit to your organization, to your bravery and power of destroying, to your capacity for holding out against the Fascist curse.

"We can and will stop the bloody horde which is threatening the Soviet people."

Two of 'Blue Wasps' Sent to Boys' School

Two members of a gang of seven young thieves who called themselves "The Blue Wasps" and who admitted breaking and entering 37 Victoria business premises in the last few months, have been sent to the Industrial School for Boys at Vancouver.

This announcement was made today by Magistrate Henry C. Hall.

Four of the boys were given lesser penalties, the Magistrate said, and one, an 11-year-old, was given suspended sentence as he was involved in only one of the breaking and entering crimes of the gang and that was to a minor extent.

The crimes of the boys started last January and continued to the rounding up of the gang on Saturday night, July 26. In the two weeks prior to the date of the capture of the gang, cases of breaking and entering of which the boys later admitted being responsible, were reported to police practically every night.

The "Blue Wasps" stealing was halted when two of the boys, aged 14 and 12 years, were caught in the Pitzer and Nex Service Station, 2650 Douglas Street, at about 11.55 on the night of July 26. Constables George Clayards and Angus Munro of the City Police caught the two youths on information given by a resident of the district.

The young thieves were not satisfied with only stealing. In most of the cases they were involved, they destroyed records and property and knocked handles and dials off safes in addition to taking anything from money to flashlights and other similar articles.

In breaking into the business and factory offices of the R. A. Green Lumber Company at 2930 Douglas Street and at 2860 Quesnel Street, the boys dumped large quantities of new nails on the floor, mixing up different sizes, and poured paint over them. They damaged a valuable door with ink and damaged a typewriter in addition to destroying records.

Two of the thieves were involved in two breaking and entering cases in Saanich, including damaging of the Safeway Cleaners, Douglas Street, but police of the municipality were unable to say today whether or not they would be brought to court. In the Safeway Cleaners case, valuable machinery was damaged and sawdust and cement was poured into a drum of cleaning fluid. Connections on a boiler were hack-sawed.

'Cut Your Skirts'

NEW YORK (CP)—A clarion call to women to "cut skirt lengths several inches" was issued today by the National Women's Undergarment Manufacturers Association.

'Peace Now, Gift to Nazis'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The text of President Roosevelt's message to the United States Congress on his recent sea conference with Prime Minister Churchill follows:

To the Congress of the United States:

Over a week ago I held several important conferences at sea with the British Prime Minister. Because of the factor of safety to British, Canadian and American ships and their personnel no prior announcement of these meetings could be properly made.

At the close, a public statement by the Prime Minister and President was made. I quote it for the information of the Congress and for the record:

(Here followed the text of the statement on the conference which was issued Aug. 14. It included the joint eight-point declaration of common principles.)

The Congress and the President having heretofore determined through the Lend-Lease Act on the national policy of American aid to the democracies, east and west, are waging war against dictatorship, the military and naval conversations at these meetings made clear gains in furthering the effectiveness of this aid.

Furthermore, the Prime Minister and I are arranging for conferences with the Soviet Union to aid it in its defence against the attack made by the principal aggressor of the modern world—Germany. Finally, the declaration of principles at this time presents a goal which is worth while for our type of civilization to seek. It is so clear cut that it is difficult to oppose in any major particular without automatically admitting a willingness to accept compromise with Nazism; or to agree to a world peace which would give to Nazism domination over large numbers of conquered nations. Inevitably such a peace would be a gift to Nazism to take breath—armed breath—for a second war to extend the control over Europe and Asia to the American hemisphere itself.

It is perhaps unnecessary for me to call attention once more to the utter lack of validity of the spoken or written word of the Nazi government.

It is also unnecessary for me to point out that the declaration of principles includes of necessity the world need for freedom of religion and freedom of information. No society of the world organized under the announced principles could survive without these freedoms which are a part of the whole freedom for which we strive.

JAP BOMBS HIT ON BRITISH EMBASSY IN CHUNGKING—As cables from the Far East tell of growing tenseness between Japan and the U.S. and Great Britain, this picture comes by clipper showing ruins of the residence of Sir Arthur Blackburn, first secretary of the British Embassy in Chungking, after a Japanese bomb scored. Sir Arthur, who had taken refuge in a dugout, was critically injured as were two other British. Two Chinese employees of the embassy were killed.

'CONFUSE PUBLIC'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ralph K. Davies, acting petroleum coordinator, declared today "wholly and completely false" figures intended to show Britain has an ample oil tanker fleet were being circulated in the United States, apparently in a deliberate effort to confuse the public.

New Army Call-up

OTTAWA (CP)—The August call-up of men for military training under the National Resources Mobilization Act will bring 4,000 young men into army training centres, the same number called last month.

The total will be made up of 1,300 men who received 30 days military training last year and 2,700 men who will don the uniform for the first time. They are due to report at training centres August 28.

Cut Down Cars

OTTAWA (AP)—A 26½ per cent curtailment in passenger car production in the United States, ordered today for August, September and October, is in line with, but not so drastic as action taken in Canada.

Actually output has been limited to 44 per cent of the 1940 figure, or about 44,000 cars.

NEW YORK (AP)—A BBC broadcast from London which quoted French border reports to the Free French News Agency Afi today said the Vichy and German governments are discussing a peace treaty by which Hitler would get military and naval bases in France and North Africa and the right to joint exploitation of French colonial empire. In return, the broadcast said, the Germans would partially withdraw their troops from France.

U.S.-Jap War Inevitable Says Tokyo Newspaper

TOKYO (AP)—Kokumin, which daily expresses the viewpoint of the more radical Japanese militarists, said today "Japan as the stabilizing power in east Asia absolutely cannot remain indifferent" if Vladivostok becomes the pivot of British-American assistance to Russia. (Calling Vladivostok a "fuse which at any time may set off an American-Japanese war," the official Central Daily News in Chungking declared: "We believe an American-Japanese war is inevitable. The question now is only when it breaks out, and whether it is to be a declared war or an undeclared war." (The organ said Japan would attempt by every means to prevent American supplies from reaching Vladivostok. The News urged the United States not to be bluffed into withdrawing aid to Russia.)

Safeway Opens Fine New Store

Hundreds of people attended the preview last night of the new Safeway store at 505 Esquimalt Road, designed to serve residents of Esquimalt and Victoria West. Ivor Crimp of Vancouver, district manager for Safeway Stores Ltd., and the staff were hosts. The store opened its doors for business this morning.

The store is the first of three to be opened in the Greater Victoria area. The other two, which will be similar in size and equipment to the Esquimalt outlet, will shortly be completed at Douglas and Herald Streets and Fort Street and Pandora Avenue. The Esquimalt store has an area of 6,500 square feet, and is indirectly lit by fixtures sunk into the ceiling. Gas unit heaters, yet to be installed, will warm it during the winter. Asphalt tile covers the floor. Walls are finished in cream and fixtures are a soft green.

FINE EQUIPMENT
Rotary ventilators at the front and rear of the store draw out warm air. The cooler for meats occupies 180 square feet and meat display cases boast fluorescent lighting of the latest type. Linen lockers, accommodation for uniforms, a shower and other staff facilities are provided at the rear.

A two-way speaking system has been installed so members of the staff may be reached wherever they are. Ample storage space for merchandise is a feature of the store, which has an incinerator with which to destroy rubbish. The most modern refrigeration equipment has been installed to keep meats at the proper temperature.

No goods are displayed in the front window, which is of plate glass and nine feet from top to bottom. It runs the full width of the building. All shelves are low, and merchandise is so displayed as to give customers plenty of room in which to make their selections.

To Leave Japan

TOKYO (AP)—The Nippon Yusen Kaisha line—apparently under foreign office pressure—suddenly announced tonight it had reservations for 26 United States embassy and consular officials aboard the liner Tatuta Maru, scheduled to sail August 28 for Shanghai.

At Shanghai most of the Americans expected to obtain trans-Pacific passage home aboard a United States transport. Because of the unfavorable "hostage" publicity arising from the inability of United States nationals to obtain passage from Japan, the foreign office was believed to have exerted pressure.

Airmen Meet Hosts From Home Towns

Several hundred Victoria residents, formerly of England, who gave their names to Alderman W. H. Davies as wanting to entertain English airmen now in this city, are disappointed today. Last evening, many men and women at the Cheer Up Concert at Beacon Hill crowded the registration booth.

As soon as a visiting airman signed the list, and stated the city in England from which he came, some Victorians, formerly from that town, claimed him as a guest.

Before Alderman Davies had the list in his hand, ready to announce the visitors' names over the microphone so that members of the audience could make contact with them they were on their way with "townie" civilian hosts.

Pickets Arrested

FOI WILLIAM (CP)—Forty-three strike pickets at the Great Lakes Lumber Company's plant here were arrested today by city police charged with "besetting the premises." The plant has been partially strike bound for the past two days.

An employee of the company was accosted on a street last night by two strikers and told that "if he went to work he would be lynched."

Mackenzie King

'Must Consult Ottawa Before Giving Answer

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada, at a press conference today, was asked to comment on the possibility of forming an Imperial war cabinet.

He replied: "I firmly believe important decisions should not be made by one man, but by a government as a whole." He pounded the table in front of him to emphasize the point.

He added it might appear to some people an Imperial war cabinet might be more effective, but the present arrangements for communication between Empire governments are "indefinitely more effective than any other possible means."

He said that if he had been asked at the meeting of the British war cabinet earlier today to give any definite answer to a particular question, he would not have been able to do so without consulting his minister in Ottawa.

This plan, he said, was working effectively and added, "As far as I am aware, there has not been a single point of difference between the Canadian and British governments since the beginning of the war. In the last war there were continual differences."

CONSCRIPTION

Questioned on conscription, the Prime Minister said national unity is regarded as fundamental in Canada's war effort and no difficulties are being encountered in getting men for the armed forces.

The Canadian government had not introduced conscription, he said, "because it has found the people so zealous."

Asked if there was any truth in the saying the Dominions are rubber stamps for London, Mr. King replied, with a smile, "Just ask my political opponents whether I'm a rubber stamp. I never intend to be."

Before the press conference, the Canadian Prime Minister entered the secret confines of Great Britain's war cabinet room after he had been greeted by Prime Minister Churchill on the step of No. 10 Downing Street.

Mr. King had just driven from Buckingham Palace where he met the King's private secretary, Sir Alexander Hardinge. Earlier Mr. King had received a letter from His Majesty expressing the Royal welcome to England.

Mr. Churchill, cigar in mouth, extended his hand and gripped that of Mr. King in a prolonged handshake.

"I'm so delighted to meet you," said Mr. King. "This is a tremendous pleasure."

Mr. Churchill retained the Canadian's hand and placed his left hand on Mr. King's shoulder, saying: "I'm delighted to meet you, too. This is fine."

A small crowd gathered at the Downing Street barrier to watch for Mr. King, who arrived from the palace visit just in time to find Mr. Churchill seeing off Canadian navy minister Angus Macdonald at the door of No. 10.

PICTURES TAKEN

Arriving in Downing Street, Mr. King posed for pictures and insisted on being photographed with the tall bobby on duty outside No. 10.

Churchill escorted the visitor through the big green door to the chamber where a Canadian Prime Minister had not attended a war cabinet meeting since the days of Sir Robert Borden in the first Great War.

Before Mr. King went to Buckingham Palace he talked with Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand.

Between his talk with Mr. Fraser and his visit to Buckingham Palace Mr. King inspected air raid damage at the House of Commons and Westminster Hall.

"It's a terribly sad thing for anyone who has seen it before," he said.

Mr. King will spend the week-end with Mr. Churchill in the country.

After lunch with the British

Prime Minister, Mr. King posed on the steps of No. 10 for more pictures. So many photographers' bulbs were flashing that Mr. Churchill turned to the Canadian visitor and remarked "we should be blindingfolded."

WELCOME

On his arrival in London Mr. King stepped from a train in Euston station to receive the restrained, impressive reception the heart of the Empire accords distinguished visitors.

Smiling, the Prime Minister was welcomed by Viscount Cranborne, Secretary of State for the Dominions, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, Secretary of State for Air, on behalf of the British government; by Cmdr. C. R. Thompson, representing Prime Minister Churchill; by the heads of Canada's armed forces, and by Euston's official greeter, Stationmaster Joseph Harrison, who dons a silk hat and frock coat for such occasions.

"We have no shadow of doubt as to the outcome of the war," Mr. King told reporters. "It will be won by the brave people of Britain."

"There is only one mind in Canada—and it is to do all we can to help win the war. Canada is at the side of Britain to the utmost of her strength in resources, both material and human."

PROUD

"We are proud beyond words of the British people and of what they have done to maintain the standards of liberty in the world."

Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian Corps, and Maj.-Gen. P. J. Montague, senior officer of Canadian military headquarters in London, boarded the train and talked with the Prime Minister for a few moments.

Replying to a question by reporters as to the experiences of his first airplane flight, Mr. King said: "I have never enjoyed anything so much. I'll fly anywhere after crossing the Atlantic. Really, it was a revelation."

Iranians Asked to Sacrifice

TEHERAN, Iran (AP)—Riza Khan Pahlevi, Shah of Iran, called on the army to "take the greatest interest in the present situation and, in case of need, be ready for every sacrifice."

The Shah's warning, in an address to the graduating class of the military academy, also included an announcement that the cadets would not have their annual leave this year.

REPLACE NAZIS

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Informal sources said today Britain in a note had outlined to Iran (Persia) plans for replacement of Germans employed in key communications and industrial posts and proposed definite action be taken by Aug. 31.

Americans arriving from Baghdad in Iraq reported steady streams of British material and armored cars moving east in the last week toward the Iranian border.

Observers considered Britain was not disposed to take "no" for an answer and would move into Iran, as she took control in Iraq, to obtain a solid defence front in the Middle East.

UNSATISFACTORY

LONDON (CP)—An authoritative source said today an oral reply made by Iran officials to a recent joint Anglo-Russian complaint about the number of German technicians in that country had not been received favorably here.

These mountain men of Iran may be first to see invading armies. Typical of that group of natives still clinging to ancient dress and custom, they live in the north, near the Russian frontier.

British Invasion?

LONDON (AP)—Unofficial British, Polish, and Norwegian strategists urged anew today a British invasion of the continent.

Military leaders were called upon for all-out war against the Nazis. Current Royal Air Force bombings of Germany and occupied territories were deemed insufficient by these sources.

Frank Owen, editor of Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard, demanded "a second front and not only in the air" in a signed editorial. Mr. Owen suggested a British offensive against Italy, long favored by some military sources as the spot where the Axis could be hit the hardest.

Some Polish and Norwegian military men have urged Britain to attempt landings at a number of points along the European coastline in an effort to find the weakest point in German defenses.

Once a weak spot were found, these men believe, enough British and Allied forces could be landed to dig in and open a new front. Most of these men believe R.A.F. bombings have smashed

German communications and therefore the Germans would find it difficult to concentrate enough troops to counter a British invasion at any one point.

Favored particularly by Poles and Norwegians is a landing in Norway north of Narvik. They offer three reasons for such a landing:

1. Norwegian troops in Britain are said to be better equipped to fight in that territory and they could be helped by Scots and Poles trained in mountain fighting.

2. Once a landing has been made, a corridor would be opened through Finland to Murmansk, Russia, cutting off the Finnish port of Petsamo. Over this corridor troops and supplies could be moved to bolster the Red armies in the north, it was said.

3. Norwegians at home have been reported ready to rebel against the Germans at the first sign of outside help.

If British army heads have contemplated an invasion of the French coast, unofficial observers agree there have been no signs of it in London.

2 ESKIMOS FREE, 2 FOUND GUILTY

BELCHER ISLANDS (CP)—A white man's jury charged with the fate of a group of Eskimos accused of murder following a religious argument in the remote northern wastes near Hudson Bay, acquitted two of the Eskimos—one a woman—and returned verdicts of guilty of manslaughter in the cases of two others.

Alec Apawkok, charged with the murder of his sister, Sarah, who, Eskimo witnesses said, was believed to be Satan, and an Eskimo woman known as Akeevik, charged with the same murder, were found not guilty. The jury, made up of newspapermen, a mining party, and a schooner crew, acquitted the woman on grounds of temporary insanity.

Peter Sala and another Eskimo called Ablaykok, accused of the murder of a tribesman known as Keytowiek, were found guilty of manslaughter and a strong recommendation for mercy in Ablaykok's case was brought in.

Cases of the remaining three Eskimos of the group of seven accused of being involved in deaths of nine Eskimos early this spring still remain to be dealt with.

Big Fires Sweep Prince George Area

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—A new forest fire on the Salmon River, 50 miles north of Prince George, today was added to scores of fires that form a 150-mile semicircle of flame and smoke stretching from northeast of this northern British Columbia city to the Alaska panhandle in the northwest.

Forestry officials said no effort is being made to control the new blaze as it is almost impossible to get men to it through rugged country and all available men are battling other fires.

Rupert Strike Ends

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister McLarty announced today a board of conciliation and investigation had settled a dispute between the Prince Rupert (B.C.) drydock and shipyard, and its shipwrights and joiners.

The agreement, effective for the war, provides for an increase in the basic wage rate from 83 cents an hour to 90 cents.

Personnel of the board was R. O. Campney, Vancouver, chairman; Rev. C. D. Clarke, Victoria, nominated by the employees, and T. W. Brown, Prince Rupert, nominated by the employer.

Protestant Parsons 'Ought To Be Punished'

MONTREAL (CP) — Protestant ministers who perform marriages between Roman Catholics and Protestants ought to be severely punished, Judge Forest declared in court.

The judge annulled the marriage of Andrew Stern, Roman Catholic, and his wife, Miss Susi Perioffter, Protestant, both of Montreal. He declared the Lutheran minister who married these two persons in 1939 had committed a "reprehensible act."

Judge Forest said he annulled the marriage because the ceremony had not been performed by a member of the clergy of the parish to which Mr. Stern belonged.

Your individual taste in foods is the result of habit and experience, says Dr. S. F. Alaska Road Off for Now Says Financial Post

TORONTO—A special dispatch to The Financial Post from Ottawa says:

A few days ago two interested Americans came here to talk Alaska highway to Prime Minister King. One was Warren Magnuson, chairman of the Alaska Highway Commission. The other was Thomas Riggs of New York, commission member.

Actually they did not see Mr. King personally. But they probably had a chance to learn at first hand what Ottawa thinks just now about this $30,000,000 highway trail which some people put in the same bracket as Canada's money-losing Hudson Bay Railway.

Ottawa's view on the highway seems to boil down to a few essential points:

1. The highway is quite feasible from an engineering point of view.

Very shortly now the B.C., Yukon and Alaska Highway Commission (Canadian section), of which Hon. Charles Stewart is chairman, should issue its final dictum. The commission is now awaiting an engineering report. But the final report will not materially alter the preliminary findings of a year ago which pronounced the road technically feasible.

2. Though feasible, there is no chance of the Canadian Government recommending its construction unless it is named as a vital defence necessity by the Permanent Joint Board on Defence.

PERHAPS IN 10 YEARS

Ottawa thinks the highway will be built eventually—perhaps in 10 or 15 years—but it has no stomach for the plan now unless a very strong recommendation goes forward from the P.J.D.B.

3. The next meeting with the Defence Board is not until next month.

'A Toast to Dickie Lee'

By DREW MIDDLETON
 Associated Press Staff Writer

A ROYAL AIR FORCE FIGHTER STATION IN ENGLAND—We drank a toast last night to Dickie Lee, a clean-looking kid who looked like a doll and fought like a devil.

Lee was shot down over France a year ago yesterday and his squadron held a dinner in his honor.

The squadron leader told me dinner would be delayed for his men had had a bit of a show during the afternoon and were late getting in.

STRANGERS

We had a drink and waited in the mess. One by one the pilots came in. I knew a couple, but most of them were strangers. "I expect you'll find some changes," the leader said. "We've had some bad luck. It was a long time ago and a long way away."

Well, yes and no. It is only a half-hour as a Spitfire lies to that other airfield outside Lille. And October, 1939, isn't so far away.

When the old gang arrived you noticed immediately a lot of them weren't flying any more. They had lost that confident look of combat pilots. I asked one what he was doing.

"Instructor, worse luck," he said. "Got a bit of bullet in my back over Calais in May this year. Won't let me do opera-

Except in the single instance of a recommendation to construct an Edmonton-Alaska airline no recommendation of the board to the government has ever been made public.

ALMOST NO CHANCE

Apart from this official shroud of secrecy which cloaks the board's opinions it can be stated with little fear of correction that there is almost no chance whatever that the board will recommend the project as an essential defence measure.

4. If the road does ever materialize, the Canadian government will probably insist on paying the cost of the 1,100 miles of new construction which lie in Canada (the Alaska part of the route is about 230 miles).

B.C.'S SHARE

B.C. may be asked to contribute something—perhaps the several million dollars which need to be spent to bring connecting highways up to the 24-foot gravel road standard now under discussion.

The cost of new construction for the route most favored by the Stewart commission is placed at about $22,000,000. Ottawa does not favor letting the U.S. pay this.

There is one very faint ray of hope for those who are pulling hard for construction of this highway.

Some concern is now being expressed regarding the shortage of shipping and the possibility that the route might relieve a situation which now ties up shipping tonnage along a 1,000-mile route from Seattle to Alaska.

But if this argument is put forward it is probable that the Canadian answer will not be acquiescence in construction of the road, but a suggestion that the U.S. cut the present long shipping route in two by routing goods via C.N.R. to Prince Rupert and thence along the coast.

This route is only half the distance by sea from Seattle.

tional work and I miss it like the very devil."

We sat down to dinner. It wasn't as it once was. Around the table were new faces in place of those boys who used to curse the weather in France and the "phoney war."

The squadron leader told of exploits by Lee, of the two Heinkels he shot down while flying home on leave, of how he was shot down twice and twice escaped from behind German lines, of how he won the Distinguished Flying Cross for his work over Dunkerque and of how last August 19 members of the squadron waited on the flying field for the sound of his motor and never heard it.

With dinner over the squadron leader stood up and said, "gentlemen, the King."

The men drank to His Majesty's health. Then they drank a toast to the President of the United States and, looking at a picture of Prime Minister Churchill on the wall, "to the old man."

"This dinner is for Dickie Lee," then said the leader. "I won't get sloppy. He hated that sort of muck. I suppose he was a hero. But more than that he was a gentleman. He laughed a lot and was kind to his friends. . . what more can you say of a man."

So, we rose and drank to Dickie Lee.

'Light Brigade' Idea Deflated

LONDON (CP)—The war office has launched a project to tell the Tommies what they are fighting for.

The new educational scheme, providing for frequent talks by officers, and movies, and radio programs, embraces Cromwell's definition of a good soldier as "one who must know what he fights for and loves what he knows."

It deflates the attitude of commanders toward soldiers embodied in Tennyson's "Charge of the Light Brigade"—"Theirs not to reason why; theirs but to do and die."

In a pamphlet introducing the plan to educate the army on current events, policies and personalities, Sir John Greer Dill, chief of the Imperial General Staff, wrote that "if the ill-informed or indifferent citizen is a menace to our national safety, so too is the soldier who neither knows nor cares why he is in arms."

Thomas Moore

Blames Employers For Strikes

GENEVA PARK, Lake Couchiching, Ont. (CP) — Thomas Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress, Ottawa, said here "The stoppages of work on war production have been few," and added that by far the largest number of strikes or lock-outs that have occurred have been caused because of obstinate refusal of employers and government workers to organize and negotiate agreements. He was addressing the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs.

Norman S. Dowd, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, criticized the Dominion government's methods in dealing with labor disputes, especially that of the National Steel Car plant in Hamilton.

He said: "If the government had gone over Canada with a fine-tooth comb, it could not have chosen a more determined opponent of labor than it appointed (E. J. Brunning)."

"It picked one of the dollar-a-year men in the Department of Munitions and Supply whose record was notorious, although it was obvious that someone who could gain the confidence and respect of the employees should have been put on the job."

Mr. Dowd also referred to a recent dispute at the plant of the Aluminum Company of Canada, Arvida, Que.

"News of a stoppage of work was withheld from the public for five days," he said. "It was then suggested that sabotage had taken place and it was stated that no labor dispute existed, such a storm of protest arose that the Minister of Justice has announced the appointment of a royal commission to investigate the affair."

TOADSTOOL POISONING

VICHY (AP) — Widespread cases of toadstool poisoning have been reported from the German-occupied zone of France, including 20 deaths in the past 48 hours. The use of mushrooms as food has increased greatly throughout France as a result of rationed foods.

Russia gets 80 per cent of its oil from the Caucasus region.

In Paris

Subversive Activities Bring 6,000 Arrests

VICHY (AP)—It was reported today police have arrested 6,000 persons in German-occupied Paris in a great roundup, apparently aimed at striking at the sources of growing public unrest. Most of those arrested were claimed to be Jews.

At the same time it was learned two men had been executed by a firing squad for alleged participation in a Communist manifestation against German occupation authorities. They were condemned, presumably by a Nazi court martial for "activity in favor of the enemy," it was said.

Both Nazi and French police were reported to have taken part in the arrests.

All approaches to each of the four quarters comprising the working-class district were blocked off and subway stations closed to prevent any escape during the five-hour clean-up.

French and German police then swept through the district, stopping all on the streets, conducting house to house searches and scanning identity papers.

Those arrested included everybody who could not show he was an Aryan. Those arrested were

Power Says:

'Canada's Airmen Best and Bravest'

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadians no longer should think of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan in terms of buildings, runways and airplanes but rather in terms of "men, and conflict, and battle, and final victory," Air Minister Power said.

"The road to victory must be blazed through the air," he told a joint Canadian Club and Rotary Club luncheon audience.

Without giving any figures, he said: "It has been found that, given the originally-planned number of schools, number of aircraft, and number of staff, we can produce 30 per cent higher output than was originally anticipated."

(When the schedule was first announced in the autumn of 1939 it was estimated unofficially the output might reach 25,000 aircraft a year.)

BIGGEST EVER ATTEMPTED

Major Power described the air training plan as "the most gigantic enterprise ever attempted by a people of a population of 12,000,000." Thousands of Canadian airmen were overseas now and many times more would be sent over before the war ends.

"Unfortunately, the ever-growing list of air force casualties is the strongest evidence of the part being played by our men in the air fighting overseas," he said.

"I say with regret that I can promise no relief from that grim circumstance. . . ."

HEAVY BURDEN

"We are committed by our signature to the Empire training plan contract, to continue to furnish the major portion of the manpower for this training plan in Canada, and consequently no inconsiderable portion of the total air manpower of the whole Empire. . . ."

"Canada's share in the air war is a heavy one. The burden on

Ancient Palace Unearthed on Rhine

BERLIN (AP) — Ruins of a magnificent palace with modern-like plumbing and heating facilities built by the Romans some 1,700 years ago have been unearthed in excavations along the Rhine at Cologne.

Experts of the Wallraf-Richartz museum reported the find and said excavators uncovered practically intact a mosaic floor of historical and artistic importance.

'Frighten Japanese' Urges Missionary

TORONTO (CP)—Britain and the United States could, by putting on a naval display, so frighten Japanese war lords that the Sino-Japanese war would end almost immediately, Dr. J. O. Thomson, United Church medical missionary from south China, believes.

"The Japanese fear both the United States and Britain," he said. "They would do anything to prevent war with these nations. However, in the meantime, they are going to continue taking all they can from the Chinese people."

Dr. Thomson spent 30 years in China and is home on a brief furlough. He is connected with the Dr. Sun Yat Sen Hospital at Canton.

our people will be greater and greater. As more and more of the cream of Canadian youth come forward and are trained and blast the way to victory.

"In this war a proud, arrogant, ruthless, intolerant people must be brought to realize that other nations also can adopt the policy of an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, and that as they have sown death, terror and devastation so also will we sow death, terror and devastation.

NO ILLUSIONS

"We have no illusions as to the extent of the sacrifices, but we have no doubt as to the effectiveness of the effort.

"The road to victory must be blazed through the air.

"The men who open that road and journey along it must be the best, the bravest, the brainiest of this, and the other commonwealth nations."

Charges C.M.A. Destroys Unionism

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jack Bruce, Toronto, international representative of the Plumbers' and Steamfitters' Union, charged before a meeting of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council that the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, aided by the Federal Labor Department, is doing its utmost to destroy trade unionism in Canada.

Bruce declared the C.M.A. could gain access to Prime Minister Mackenzie King when labor's representatives were excluded. Recently, he said, the C.M.A. had adjourned the convention so its president could present to Mr. King in person a series of regulations by which it hoped to "exploit and tie the hands of labor."

"I defy the government to tell the real truth of the Arvida situation," Bruce said. He termed the labor tactics of the Aluminum Company of Canada and the United States "cowardly and brutal" and charged that employees at Arvida were working 60 to WASHINGTON (AP) — Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, announced the U.S. government would build, at a cost of $52,000,000, aluminum plants in Arkansas, New York, and the Bonneville dam area of Oregon in order to produce metal for the manufacture of bombers.

Iran and Turkey

NOT WHOLLY SATISFACTORY. IS REPORTED to be the term applied to Iran's response to an Anglo-Russian demand that she give several thousand German technicians and "tourists" the order of the boot from that important strategic country in the Middle East. The second warning to the authorities at Tehran—sent last Saturday—required an answer within 48 hours; it is apparently the tone of that reply which leads to the belief that Iran awaits a more definite unfolding of the battle for the Ukraine before committing herself.

The present mood of the British and Russian governments is obviously not calculated to tolerate indefinite evasion of an issue fraught with such dangerous potentialities as the presence of so many enemy agents at the gateway to India. What happened in Iraq and Syria furnishes London and Moscow with a danger signal too emphatic to ignore. It is a red light which takes on greater brilliance when contemplated in conjunction with reports of the massing of fresh Nazi forces sufficiently near to the Turkish frontier to foreshadow early Axis operations against the Dardanelles.

The Russian campaign, Nazi designs on Turkey, and the strained relations between the European anti-Axis fighting powers and the government of Iran recall a speech which Mr. Churchill delivered in the House of Commons a year ago yesterday. At that time he was surveying "the dark, wide field," and issued his famous dictum to Hitler and his gang: "Even if the Nazi legions stood triumphant on the Black Sea, or indeed upon the Caspian, even if Hitler was at the gates of India, it would profit him nothing if at the same time the entire economic and scientific apparatus of German war power lay shattered and pulverized at home."

Nazi legions are on a part of the Black Sea coastline; the Caspian is a definite objective of Marshal Karl Rudolf Gerd von Rundstedt whose armies are pressing the Russians eastward in the Ukraine. And when he was discussing the failure of the Crete campaign last June 10, less than two weeks before the invasion of Russia began, Mr. Churchill was wondering what his critics would have said if British troops had not gone to Greece and the Greek islands; he answered himself thus: "Suppose that we had simply resigned territory and strategic points to them—the enemies—"without a fight, might they not at this early stage of the campaign of 1941 already be masters of Syria and Iraq and preparing themselves for an advance into Persia?"

As far as one can judge, therefore, Britain—much stronger now than Russia is an ally and Iraq and the Levant states are no longer under Axis control—is not disposed to tolerate any further "advance into Persia," certainly not by an army of Nazi "tourists" whose dismissal by the Iranian government is being demanded. We may be sure that no "appeasing" delay will mark Anglo-Soviet policy in this part of the Middle East.

'Absolutely'

TOKYO'S NEWSPAPER, KOKUMIN, THE daily usually reflecting the views of the more radical Japanese militarists, says today that Japan "absolutely cannot remain indifferent" if Vladivostok becomes the pivot of British-American assistance to Russia. This new warning to London and Washington goes cabinet information bureau spokesman Ishii's of Tuesday one better. He contented himself with the gentle hint that his country could not "remain indifferent." What are Great Britain and the United States to do now that the word "absolutely" has been added to the general injunction and threat?

One of these days, perhaps, the men of Tokyo will come down from their Olympian heights and try to face realities. The trouble with them seems to be that they do not know just what the two English-speaking democracies are prepared to do under circumstances that would be thrown into relief if Japan does what she would like to do but does not feel in the mood to do; she hesitates to go beyond her present practice of trying to get as much as possible for nothing—or without risking the unpredictable. She has, in the meantime, succeeded in "encircling" herself. If she were wise she might "get from under"; further delay or the overt act would oblige her to put shot and shell behind her latest decision "absolutely" not to remain indifferent.

Spared That

ONLY A SHORT TIME BEFORE THE Petain-Darlan regime in Vichy made its decision to collaborate with the German Reich—politically, economically and militarily—so that Hitler's bid for European domination might be accelerated, a summer storm came to the little town of Versailles, seat of France's ancient glories. Two statues, one of Lafayette, one of General Pershing, stood on opposite sides of a street there. As the storm rose in violence, the statue of General Pershing swayed from its pedestal, fell, and shattered into a million fragments on the pavement. At least it never had to witness the events to come.

Slow But Sure

EXACTLY 40 WEEKS AFTER THE RECEIPT of 2,000 British blueprints, and a 9,000-engine order, the first production-built Rolls-Royce Merlin XX fighter engine roared to life for a group of 1,000 invited guests at the Packard plant in Detroit two weeks ago. The blueprints referred to were redrafted to American tooling standards, and 1,000,000 square feet of plant were built and equipped with 2,200 machine tools. Some 800 more machine tools are reported to be still on order, but are expected to be available fast enough to keep pace with a hiring rate of 500 a week, which in 19 weeks will enlarge the plant's present working force of 4,500—exclusive of the employees of 350 subcontractors—to 14,000. Engine production is expected to reach 800 by the end of 1941. Though it is still too early to estimate the comparative efficiencies of American and British production methods, experts say that improvements in various processes have increased the horsepower of the engines.

It seems only a few days ago since British and United States engineering experts were discussing the possibilities of turning out these engines in the neighboring Republic. Old prejudices about turning over jealously-guarded secrets of manufacture, difficulties which barred the way to quick and satisfactory arrangements, and not a little red tape, encompassed negotiations at a time when Britain was just recovering from the effects of France's fall. But the fact that the first engine has materialized after more than nine months of expert and concentrated organization should be noted by those armchair dogmatists in this country who still seem to cling to the idea that the intricate machinery of war can be blueprint one day and collected in its finished state from the assembly line a week or so afterwards.

Tit for Tat

WITH ALMOST MONOTONOUS INSISTENCE Germany has complained that other nations, by some perverse cussedness, still refuse to treat her on terms of equality. The plain reason never seems to dawn on the disordered minds of the men of Berlin. Germany will not and cannot act on terms of equality. Cuba was the last nation to join in the parade of countries sending Nazi consuls back home. Minister of State Cortina said: "The government has been able to prove that German Consul Heisinger had engaged in activities apart from those inherent in his post and which affected the security of Cuba." And now, of course, Germany and Italy have taken the natural retaliatory measures. But theirs was the original guilt of abusing hospitality.

It is the same old story; the same old claim that Germans are superior, privileged, and unwilling to abide by the ordinary rules observed by others. Country after country has found such pretensions intolerable. Nobody wanted to take away from Germany such a position in the world as she had earned by her legitimate achievements; but the world positively refuses her claims to special privileges to suit her own ends.

London May Buy Itself

NO CITY, AS FAR AS WE CAN RECALL, has ever gone out and bought itself. London is thinking of some such plan. Acres and acres of the very centre of the Empire's metropolis have been leveled clear by the German bombing. Terrible though that is, it offers a unique opportunity for the rebuilding that will come after the war. British planners are determined that London shall not merely rise again as it was, but rise anew, a better and finer city. If old lines of streets and property ownership have been rendered meaningless by the bombing, why regard them in building the new London? So there has even been advanced a plan for the city to buy from its present owners 673 acres of the heart of London, that the rebuilding may not be hampered by private claims and obstructions. Does it sound fantastic for a city thus to "buy itself"? No doubt, but in the tremendous shake-ups of war on the scale of war today, stranger things will happen.

Notes

It is unnecessary to fool all of the people, but the totalitarian leader considers it safer.

Roosevelt and Churchill agreed on eight points—and any one of them is sharp enough to stick Hitler.

The idea seems to be that the nations against Germany will give more help to the Russians as the Russians give more proof of not needing it.

A JOB FOR CANADA TO DO

From Financial Post

There are indications that the authorities at Ottawa are beginning to realize the seriousness of Canada's lack of powerful short-wave facilities. The fighting democracies are at a grave disadvantage in stating their case and publishing their version of the war news. Practically all of Europe's radio stations are under Axis control. Britain's two stations broadcast on half a dozen wave lengths that are jostled by Hitler's 100 or more. Yet Canada has declined to enter the short-wave field with broadcasting facilities adequate to cover even this continent.

Hon. Joseph Thorson, Minister of National War Services, would receive much public support if he were to provide at least one major short-wave station to make use of the wave lengths assigned to this country. If we do not start using them soon, some other country may appropriate them.

APPEASEMENT

APPEASEMENT is inviting the boy who bullies Johnny to come along to the movies with you. It is murmuring endearments to your neighbor's police dog. It is smiling pleasantly at the motorcycle cop as you pull over to the curb.

It is a box of inexpensive candy presented by a husband to a wife who has accused him of just taking her for granted. It is a son volunteering to cut the grass before asking if he may have the family car.

It is explaining to your friend the lawyer that when you expressed your opinion of the legal profession you, of course, meant nothing personal to him. It is a wife pointing out to her husband that by purchasing the dress at this time she has saved him ever so much money.

It is a neighbor coming over to say she hopes her Mary did not wake you up when she came in with her boy friends at 2 a.m. and asking if you could use a basket of apples which have spots in them but are good for making apple sauce.

It is the grocer assuring the customer her dinner is on the way and then telling the clerk to hustle and fill the order. It is the garage man declaring that your car should be ready any minute now.

It is explaining to the friend who hasn't been invited that it isn't really a party. It is the dentist hoping he didn't hurt and assuring you the worst is over. It is the carpenter expressing regret at having disappointed you and promising faithfully to be there the first thing in the morning.

Appeasement is a policy which, when practiced by governments, finds many critics. But the critics are much more tolerant of the policy when they practice appeasement themselves.

ONLY ONE ENGLISHMAN IN TEN READS BIBLE

From London Spectator

I was given this week some statistics that seem to me striking. My informant wanted, for special reasons, to discover how far the Bible is read by ordinary people in this country. He is a man who, when he wants to make inquiries, makes them thoroughly. The conclusion he reached was that 90 per cent of the people of England had not opened a Bible for 10 years.

Of course this means a generalization from facts based on a limited field of inquiry; it could hardly be otherwise. The examples of special inquiries were instructive. Of a group of 10 or a dozen businessmen, one was found to have read the Bible last the same morning, all the others not for 15 years.

But one of them, it is fair to say, claimed that he knew much of the New Testament by heart.

CITY USES FALLEN LEAVES

From Lincoln, Neb., Journal and Star

Kentucky's city of Lexington has given much study to a problem that affects other cities where there are many trees. When the leaves fall they litter the lawns and streets. What to do with them is the problem.

In most cities they are raked up and hauled away to be dumped in waste places. Not so in Lexington. There the leaves are raked and baled. After baling there is a demand for them. Florists and gardeners haul them away and convert them into fertilizer. If the demand is not sufficient to take care of the product of the baler the city finds economy in hauling away in one truckload what might require a dozen truckloads if the leaves were unbaled.

The idea appears to be worth thinking about.

We are cutting out a press portrait of the Soviet marshal, Budenny, to show the next door-to-door brush salesman what is being done elsewhere.

VIA AIR

MR. MACKENZIE KING'S comment on his arrival in England by plane seems to me to indicate one of the real benefits of this war. Travel by airway is far and away preferable to travel by any other means of communication, at least for long journeys. Stern necessity has forced the establishment of regular air traffic over this North Atlantic stretch. It will never again be broken.

There are at least a score of other indications to suggest that the end of this war will see the world on the very verge of a revolution in transportation facilities. In the first place, there will be hundreds of thousands of the keenest of young men trained for all branches of aviation. The actual air crews in this war have an entirely different job than had their predecessors of the last conflict—as everybody knows. In this struggle the whole idea is teamwork. But from the standpoint of the future of aviation, what is happening on the ground is of much greater importance.

They tell us that for every fighting airman who helps fly a plane into combat there are 10 men (or women) who help to get that plane ready to fly, and keep it that way. Here are the craftsmen who may well become the backbone of a whole new post-war industry.

Even more important than this fact, that there will be ready to carry on in time of peace a regular army of skilled maintenance men, is the fact that there will be hundreds of factories all manned and equipped to keep on turning out planes of all kinds.

WATCH HENRY

In the last war the United States never did get into its stride in the production of aircraft. Then, as now, there was too long a lag between the decision to act and the ability to act. But the United States did do one thing which had a profound effect on the whole aviation industry. It poured out thousands of Liberty motors which were too late to have any effect on the war, but which were sold at such bargain prices afterwards that they supplied the motive power for almost every car that took the air anywhere on this continent.

That is probably prophetic of what will happen this time. The United States is just now beginning to get into real production in the aircraft industry. Hitherto it has been a sort of tailor-made, high-hat business run on Royal lines. But in the past year the Henry Ford boys, in his factories and all others like them, have been doing their stuff. They have already made almost unbelievable simplifications which multiply production. And what they have done to date is but the mild beginning of what they expect to do.

SAFETY LAST

We shall never know, at least till the war is over, whether the recent crashes which took such heavy toll of lives of the trans-Atlantic ferrying crews were or were not due to sabotage. But the fact that hundreds of flights are now being made across the North Atlantic, without publicity and without mishap, is an indication of what is happening.

The real pioneers of aviation are not the stunt fliers like Col. Lindbergh, nor even Alcock and Brown who made the hop nine years earlier, but the men who have put the planes down in England week after week, month after month, in all kinds of weather and under war conditions.

When the war is over even the devices now used to destroy planes—such as the radio locator—will be used to keep them up. Many of the disastrous plane crashes in the United States in the decade prior to the war could have been avoided had the airway services had in operation the device which Britain now uses to intercept enemy night bombers.

501 KILLED!

From Ottawa Journal

In the United Kingdom, during July, 501 civilians were killed by what officially is called "enemy action," which means German air raids, and 447 were so badly injured that they required hospital treatment.

Added to preceding months these figures brought to 42,257 the number of civilians thus slaughtered since the war began, and to 53,125 the number injured. Casualties in the armed services, including many prisoners, are not much higher.

EATON URGES U.S. TO ENTER WAR NOW

Cyrus S. Eaton, Canadian-born American banker and industrialist, urges the United States to enter the war immediately, in a letter published in the New York Times.

A trustee of the University of Chicago, Mr. Eaton takes a stand on international affairs in direct opposition to that of Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, president of the university. Dr. Hutchins is an active advocate of "isolationism" for the United States.

The text of Mr. Eaton's letter to the New York Times follows: America must go to war now. We must do so because fighting is the only means left for us to preserve our independence.

Germany's policy clearly is world conquest. And the attack on Russia is but another step in the vast program Germany has for 50 years been planning. Unless we throw our entire strength into the battle against Hitler now, we can look forward to the time within a few short weeks when the Soviet will have been smashed and every port, every airfield, every munition factory, every airplane plant, every shipyard, every resource on the European Continent will be at Germany's complete disposal for the immediate domination of the Near East and all of Africa, and for a speedy and murderous onslaught on England.

The rest of Asia, too, will fall to Germany and to her ally, Japan, which, like Germany, is ruled by a war party and imbued with insatiable lust for conquest. The slaving beasts of prey will then turn on us in full force without delay.

Hitler, after all, has often expressed Germany's utter contempt for the intelligence, the honor and the courage of the American people. In the face of that unceasing contempt, can any American still remain blind enough to believe that a victorious Germany, allied with Japan, armed to the teeth, led by ruthless and ambitious fanatics, and convinced of American decadence, will hesitate to attack the country whose natural resources are the envy of the world?

The proposition is no longer peace. War is inevitable. Our only problem now is how swiftly we can strike the aggressor the heaviest and most disabling blows. CYRUS S. EATON. Cleveland.

McNaughton Sees 3rd Division

SOMEWHERE IN BRITAIN (CP)—Lieut. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian Corps, paid his first visit to the 3rd Division today and, after inspecting detachments from almost every unit, declared the standard of manhood and manliness of the recent additions to Canada's overseas army did credit to Canada.

Purpose of the inspection, Gen. McNaughton said, was to satisfy himself the basic training which was planned for the division in Canada had been worked out.

"I am very happy about everything I have seen," he added. "There is a very high standard of basic training and the men are most thoroughly fit in every respect."

Inspection of the 3rd Division coincided with the announcement of the arrival of a shipload of ancillary troops to reinforce the Canadian Corps. The men arrived at an undisclosed port where Angus L. Macdonald, Canadian navy minister, greeted them.

BOYS HELPED IN MOCK BATTLE

Small boys on bicycles played a big part in the "Battle of the Fraser" for the cities of New Westminster and Vancouver by helping the Rocky Mountain Rangers spot the enemy, represented by the Edmonton Fusiliers.

Questioned by Lt. H. T. Grauer, in charge of the 17th platoon of the Rangers, the youngsters said, "The enemy is coming over the hill, sir. We have seen them. They look as if they mean business."

"The battle" formed part of the manoeuvres carried out by the Rocky Mountain Rangers in the final stages of their 300-mile march from Kamloops to Vancouver, on their way to camp at Nanaimo.

"Yes, you can have a date tonight—if you bring along another sailor for my girl friend."

Wings Awarded

CALGARY (CP)—Pilots were given their Royal Canadian Air Force wings at a ceremony at No. 3 Service Flying Training School here yesterday.

Graduates, all leading aircraftmen, included A. M. Barber and A. D. Mills, Victoria, and K. W. Reilly, Duncan.

McNab Presents Wings to Pilots

SASKATOON (CP)—Wing Cmdr. Ernest McNab, leader of the first Royal Canadian Air Force fighter squadron in Britain, recently posted to command No. 4 Service Flying Training School here, officiated in his first wings ceremony at Saskatoon when a group of student pilots, including a number of Canadian airmen, graduated. Leading aircraftmen receiving pilot's wings included D. S. Robertson, Vancouver.

Rangers to March

The Dufferin & Haldimand Rifles will not take part in the huge military parade in Vancouver Monday for the opening day of the Canada Pacific Exhibition, as originally planned. Their place will be taken by the Rocky Mountain Rangers, who arrived in Vancouver after a 300-mile march from Kamloops.

How They Were Named
The first trunks were hollowed out of logs, and our word for trunk comes from the Latin "truncus," meaning the trunk of a tree.

ON POLICE DUTY—Arthur Phipps, 30, son of Mrs. M. Phipps, 2634 Wark Street, is now serving with the Royal Canadian Air Force Special Police in Toronto. Born and educated in Victoria, he was for a time attached to the Victoria Police Department and later worked for the Imperial Oil Company in Vancouver before joining the R.C.A.F.

Hopkins Cites Strength of Russia

LONDON (CP)—Official optimism in London and Washington over Russia's chance in the struggle with Germany is based on three assurances given to Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt by Harry Hopkins during their Atlantic conference, it is reported reliably.

The assurances which emerged from Hopkins' conference with Russia's Premier Josef Stalin and the lease-lend administrator's personal observations on his recent visit to Russia were these:

1. Nazi efforts to raise a fifth column in Russia have failed;
2. Despite the terrific blows of the German armies, Moscow has been able to maintain unbroken communications between general headquarters and the three-field army groups;
3. Soviet industrial expansion in the past five years had been on such a scale that even if the Germans hold the western Ukraine the Russians will be able—with some American and British help for immediate needs—to equip new armies and organize new air formations for duration of a long war.

12-Pound Gun Mounts

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Vice-Admiral A. E. Evans, head of the British Admiralty technical mission, inspected the first 12-pound gun mount produced in Canada for the British Admiralty at the Hamilton plant of Sawyer-Massey Limited.

The mount is designed for an anti-aircraft and anti-submarine dual-purpose gun.

The vice-admiral made a tour of the plant and later addressed workers. He said it was a "remarkable achievement" that within four months men who had never seen such an object had converted machinery used in peacetime for other purposes and produced the new mount, first of many to be produced for the Admiralty. The plant manufactured agricultural implements before the war.

Anti-aircraft and anti-submarine guns represent "what we want more than anything else in the world right now," the vice-admiral said.

Although some men working on munitions might desire to "get into" the war in a more active capacity, they should remember that it was just as important guns and munitions be produced in the number required, he added.

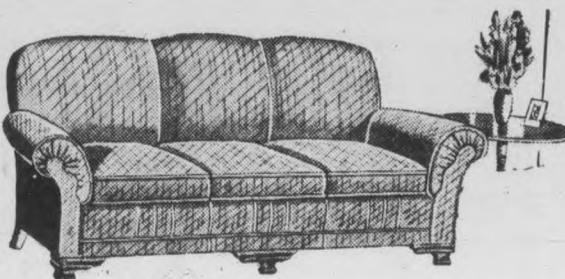

"Everything you make you can say to yourselves 'there goes another one for Hitler and his pal Mussolini,'" the vice-admiral concluded.

Cowichan Girl Is Bride Today of Officer

A military wedding of interest throughout the province was solemnized at St. Peter's Church, Quamichan, this afternoon when Rev. T. M. Hughes united in marriage Susan Gaylard, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylard Hadwen, "Amblecote," Quamichan Lake, and Lieut. Alan MacDonald Stewart, Royal Canadian Engineers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stewart of Comox and Queen Charlotte Islands. The service was choral with Mr. E. C. Trench at the organ, and as the register was being signed, Mrs. Alister Hassell sang "All Joy Be Thine."

The church was beautifully decorated under the direction of Mrs. F. Hassell and Mrs. Compton-Lundie, in a color scheme of blue and white, gladioli predominating, the flowers being the gift of Mrs. R. M. Palmer. The guest pews were marked with white gladioli and satin streamers. Messrs. Douglas Cree and Deane Finlayson (Nanaimo), acted as ushers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, made a charming picture in an imported gown of white sheer, with panel front of French embroidery, low waistline, full skirt and a slight train; and a full-length veil fastened with a Marie Stuart tiara of seed pearls. To carry out the blue and white color scheme she wore blue slippers and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations (her sorority flower), and blue delphinium tips.

Miss Nancy Hayward was bridesmaid, wearing a dress of white sheer, the full skirt gathered at the waist with a girdle edged with shirring, white halo hat with long blue streamers, blue lace mitts and arm bouquet of blue delphiniums and white gladioli. Little Betty Adams was flower girl, wearing a long white organdie dress made with rows of frills, and a crown of blue flowers. She carried a basket of blue mixed flowers. Mr. Ronald M. Stewart, Powell River, was best man.

GARDEN RECEPTION

After the ceremony a reception was held in the garden at the bride's home where Mrs. G. H. Hadwen received the guests, wearing a coat dress in a dusty blue shade, navy hat and accessories, and corsage of white carnations. She was assisted by Mrs. R. Stewart, who wore an ensemble in navy blue with white accessories. The three-tier wedding cake adorned the refreshment table, decorated with a silver vase on top, white carnations and silver lake vine, and surrounded by tiny vases. The toast to the bride was proposed by Capt. H. deM. Mellie, Victoria.

The young couple left for a honeymoon, the bride wearing a traveling dress of beige silk jersey cloth, English tweed coat, British tan felt hat and accessories. They will reside temporarily in Saskatoon.

Over Two Tons of Jam Made; More Fruit Needed

Over two tons of fruit, which would otherwise have been wasted — 4,200 pounds to be exact — has been made into jam destined for Great Britain since the Victoria Council of Women's Jam-making committee started its operations at the Market Building a few weeks ago under the auspices of the Red Cross.

This represents a great deal of work on the part of the little group of volunteers, headed by Mrs. A. P. Rayment, the convener, and the hundreds of four-pound tins of delicious jams of every variety testify to their expert housekeeping and will doubtless bring joy to many a British child deprived of sweets owing to short rations.

But more fruit is needed if the good work is to go on, and donations of plums and blackberries would be welcomed by the committee at the Market Building, where they may be left on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

BARRETT-BROWN

The marriage took place at Knox Manse, Red Deer, Alberta, on August 12, of Corporal Hugh Tremaine Barrett, R.C.A.F., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Barrett of London, England, and Rio de Janeiro, grandson of the late Sir Henry Bessemer, to Florence McGillivray Brown, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William McGillivray Munroe of Victoria, B.C.

HALL-PLANTA

VANCOUVER — Two well-known pioneer families were united Tuesday evening when Carmen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clive Planta, spoke her marriage vows in St. Mark's Church, at 8 o'clock, with James Z. Greer Hall, only son of Mrs. Hall and the late J. Z. Hall of Killarney, Point Grey Road. The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Planta of Nanaimo, and the groom is the grandson of the late Samuel Greer, who settled at Greer's beach, now known as Kitsilano, before the incorporation of the city of Vancouver. Rev. Minto Swan was the officiating clergyman.

The bride wore a gown of fine Cluny lace with full skirt of white net. Her veil of white net fell from a Mary Queen of Scots cap of white flowers, and she carried a shower bouquet of gardenias, white heather and swainssona. Mrs. H. F. E. Smith was matron of honor in pale green and Miss Peggy Leith and Mae Planta, the bride's cousin, in pink and blue, respectively, were bridesmaids. Their frocks were picture gowns of floating net with gloves and shoulder veils similar to the bride's. The matron carried an armful of orchid gladioli and the bridesmaids carried carnations in pink and blue.

Mr. John Gunn stood as groomsmen with Mr. Hall. Messrs. Elliott Schmidt, Lloyd Torrnoos, Len Turnbull and Joseph Snelgrove were ushers. Miss Freda Settee played a cello solo during the register signing. The bride and groom's mothers received their guests at Killarney. Mrs. Planta's gown was designed of heavy blue chiffon and her wide picture hat of lacy beige straw. She wore Joanna Hill roses at the shoulder. Mrs. Hall had chosen black lace for the occasion and her corsage was of gardenias.

When Mr. and Mrs. Hall left by motor for the interior where they will honeymoon on their way to their new home in Wells, B.C., she had changed to a smart traveling ensemble. She wore a kilt of the Farquharson tartan with a brown tweed jacket and Henry Heath hat. Her corsage was of white heather.

HOGARTH-COLDWELL

Of interest in Victoria was the wedding which took place at the home of the bride's parents at Jesmond, B.C., when Elizabeth Louise, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Coldwell became the bride of Mr. David Hogarth, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hogarth of Victoria.

Rev. E. R. Bartlett of St. Alban's Church, Ashcroft, read the service Sunday afternoon in a setting of summer flowers. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in misty white chiffon, delicately embroidered. Her chapel veil cascaded in filmy folds from a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried white gladioli. For her good-luck charm she wore an heirloom brooch which had been given to her mother by her father on their wedding day.

Her bridesmaids were her sister, Evelyn, in cameo pink net, and Miss E. Joyce Chapman of Milner in turquoise blue, with real flower headresses and carrying harmonizing bouquets of mauve and pink gladioli. Mr. H. W. (Pete) Coldwell, brother of the bride, was best man and Mr. Hugh Farquhar of Victoria was usher.

After the ceremony a buffet supper was served at a table covered with a hand-made cloth and graced by pink and white flowers. When receiving, Mrs. Coldwell wore a navy blue frock with pink gladioli corsage. The groom's parents were unable to attend the wedding but telephoned congratulations before the service.

The couple left for a wedding trip to the northern Cariboo, the bride wearing a wool-sheer ensemble with black accessories and a corsage of mauve flowers. The couple will live at Nanaimo, B.C.

Streamlined horses now being bred for the U.S. Army are smaller, faster and more active than plodding draft animals that once were useful.

MARRIED RECENTLY—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph George Holt, who were married at the First Baptist Church. The bride was formerly Miss Vera Elsie Ferriday, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ferriday, Fort Street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Holt, Seaview Road.

Use of Casserole Lends Flavor to Inexpensive Cuts

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDON
Casserole cooking gives inexpensive cuts of meat and left-overs richer flavor and more eye-appeal. The two recipes below will prove that statement.

Beef Pie (Six servings)

Two onions, 2 cups meat broth or bouillon, 3 cups cooked, diced beef, 1 teaspoon salt, 1½ cups diced potatoes, 1 cup diced carrots, 2 tablespoons granulated tapioca.

Biscuit Dough

Two cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons shortening, ¾ cup milk (about).

Meat Mixture

Slice onions and pour boiling water over them and let stand while preparing meat. Combine broth, beef, salt, potatoes, carrots, tapioca and drained onions and place in a well-greased two-quart casserole or baking dish. Bake one-half hour in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for half an hour. Remove and place biscuit dough on top.

Biscuit dough: Sift flour, then measure. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cut shortening into dry ingredients with a pastry blender or two knives. Add the liquid all at once and stir in with a fork on a slightly floured board. Pat the dough out to ¼-inch thickness; fold and repeat procedure twice again. Shape dough to fit top of casserole and place over meat mixture. Continue baking for half an hour in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.).

Swiss Steak (Six servings, plus leftovers)

Three pounds round steak, 4 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon ginger, 1½ teaspoons salt, 2 tablespoons prepared mustard, 1½ cups boiling water, 12 small onions.

Cut steak in serving pieces. Mix flour, ginger and salt; roll meat in mixture. Brown the pieces of meat very quickly over direct heat and place them in a 1½-quart casserole. Add mustard and hot water. Arrange onions over the top; cover the dish and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 1½ hours or until meat is tender. About ¼ of the meat will be left over for tomorrow night's meal.

TOMORROW'S MENU

Breakfast — Orange halves, bacon, fried eggs, toast, coffee, milk.

Luncheon — Pea and diced cheese salad, fried corn meal mush, maple syrup, iced tea, milk.

Dinner — Beef pie, snap beans, relish plate, fruit juice frappe, chocolate chip cookies, coffee, milk.

Censors' Headache

Premature Report
On Flight Probed

OTTAWA (CP)—The press censors for Canada are making private inquiries to determine if possible the source of a dispatch on the departure from Canada of Prime Minister Mackenzie King which may have reached the United States before his bomber was safely landed in Britain.

A spokesman at the censor's office said the item in question was a dispatch carried Tuesday night by the North American Newspaper Alliance from Montreal, reading as follows:

"Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King left here this afternoon on a ferry bomber flying to England, according to reliable information from a witness at the airport. He is going to London to confer with Prime Minister Winston Churchill at the invitation of the British government."

CARRIED IN CANADA

After its publication in New York, this story was provided to Canadian newspapers by the Canadian Press, credited to N.A.N.A. and under New York dateline, after it had been submitted by Canadian Press to the press censors for Canada and passed by them for publication in the Dominion.

Although the item was passed for publication in Canada after its appearance in the United States, Canadian newspapers were not permitted to carry any story on the flight under Canadian dateline or any background material, until official announcement from London, about three hours later, of the arrival.

SECRECY NEEDED

Trans-Atlantic plane flights are made under utmost secrecy. In all flights such as the one made by Mr. King, the press censors ban publication of any reference which might provide the enemy with information on the flight departure early enough to make possible interception of the ocean-going plane before it reached its destination.

"We are making a quiet inquiry to find out the origin of the Montreal story carried by N.A.N.A.," the spokesman at the censor's office said. "We are not asking the police for help but are doing the job through our usual channels."

"Whether any action will ultimately be taken in the matter has not been decided."

COMPLAINTS MADE

He said several complaints had been received from Canadian newspapers because the story of Mr. King's departure had leaked out of Canada and was published in the United States before Canadian newspapers were allowed to mention it.

He said it is not definitely known whether the story from Montreal was sent out of the country early enough that the Germans could have learned of the flight in time to send out planes in an effort to intercept Mr. King's aircraft.

Vantreight Back
At Auto Races

Auto racing fans will see the local ace, Jerry Vantreight, back in action Saturday night after a lay-off of several weeks caused by injuries he received in a crack-up.

Jerry's injuries are all mended and he will head the field of local speedsters when the British Columbia Automotive Sports Association stages an all-local car meet at Langford Speedway.

Vantreight will be at the wheel of the No. 1 car. When he smashed up several weeks ago, receiving a broken hand and bad cuts and bruises, he was driving the No. 2 car.

Second top-spaulder to perform will be Jack Spaulding who will pilot the No. 39 car. Spaulding walked away with most of the honors at last week's international show.

Buddy Green will be on hand with his No. 6 wagon and should make a good showing. Other drivers and cars to show are Don Vantreight, No. 9; Sid Holde-ridge, No. 10; Corky Thomas, No. 25, and No. 2, driver unknown so far.

In addition to a program of major car races which will open at 7.45 with time trials, there will be stock car and midget races.

Midget cars to show include those of Buddy Green, Johnny Wright, Jimmy Laird and Neil Butler.

In the Middle Ages, says an armor expert, only knights were permitted to wear gold or gilded spurs; those of an esquire were silvered, whereas spurs of a page or valet were merely tinned.

Ottawa Problem

Demand for 'Teeth'
In Labor Policy

By NORMAN MACLEOD
OTTAWA—Among the movements currently competing for the federal spotlight—conscription, national government, cabinet reorganization, or what have you—none is receiving greater attention in ministerial circles than the demand that "teeth" be inserted in the nation's wartime labor legislation.

The cry for such action, if not universal, is at least impressively representative.

It comes from labor.

It comes from industry.

It comes from a general public shocked at what they consider the Nerd-like spectacle of war industry concerning itself with internal disputes at a time of national crisis.

Finally—and with especial force—it comes from trained economists all over the country who realize that the government's wartime labor policy is the cornerstone of the entire elaborate structure that has been reared to protect the nation against the evils of wartime inflation.

MACHINERY THERE

These strangely-assorted forces are on common ground in declaring that the government has provided all the necessary machinery and formulae for the settlement of any industrial dispute without recourse to either strike or lockout.

Such being the case, they demand to know why, in the present national emergency, every industrial dispute should not be compelled by law to find its solution within the machinery and formulae prescribed by the government for reaching a fair and reasonable settlement?

WHY NOT OUTLAWED

They want to know, in other words, why strikes and lockouts, both so detrimental and dangerous at a time when national survival is at stake, should not be specifically outlawed and parties to them subjected to exemplary penalties?

What is the government's answer?

In the first place, it is only fair to state that the federal authorities responsible for the country's labor policy admit the force of much that is said in connection with the current clamor for a policy of compulsion towards industry and labor alike in the present emergency. Not only is the existence of codes and formulae adequate to solve any dispute on a fair basis not denied. It is even the subject of modest boasting. The vexed question of union recognition, it is pointed out, is covered by Order-in-Council P.C. 2865 upholding labor's right to collective bargaining through the union of its own choice; while the further problem of "fair and reasonable" wages is disposed of by Order-in-Council P.C. 7440, which stipulates that the average of the 1926-1929 level shall prevail, plus a cost-of-living bonus of $1.25 per week for every 5 per cent in increase in living costs since the war began.

METHODS

Finally, the labor law provides for consideration of any grievances which labor may have, whether on wages, union recognition, or working conditions by boards of conciliation specially appointed for each fresh dispute. Composed of a representative of each labor industry, with a neutral individual acceptable to both sides, these boards render their decisions judicially on the merits of the dispute before them.

With all this machinery for peaceful relations in industry in force, the federal authorities recognize that a proposal to outlaw strikes and lockouts for the duration of the war carries considerable reasonableness on its face.

NOT IN DEMOCRACY

As a matter of fact, about the only answer the Parliament Hill authorities return to the agitation for such a proposal is that no other democratic country has adopted it.

"Why don't they do it in Britain or the United States?" a leading official of the labor department asked recently when the suggestion was put forward. "That sort of thing may be all right in a totalitarian country, but we in democracies just don't do it."

He added further that, while industry was agitating for compulsion, it expected the compulsion to be applied to labor; and that while labor was also agitating for compulsion, it was compulsion upon management that it was looking for.

The official admitted, however, that the time might come when traditional concepts would have to be swept away in favor of a more drastic policy. The government's labor policy, he conceded, was in some important respects, the keystone upon which the economic policy underlying the war effort generally depends.

Herriot

NEW YORK (AP)—Edouard Herriot, former Premier of France and Mayor of Lyons, has written "from the depths of solitude" a memoir expressing "fervent admiration" for Great Britain and the United States.

The current American Mercury observes "the world will recognize this article as an act of courage and patriotism."

The magazine, calling the article the first written since the armistice by a democratic French statesman still residing in France, says it "carefully avoids direct discussion of the current tragedy."

Among the memories which fill my journal," writes Herriot, "the most precious to me in these tragic days we are living through are the ones that bring back the beginnings of my cordial relations with two nations for which my admiration today is more fervent than ever—Great Britain and the United States."

Herriot speaks mostly of his work as mayor of Lyons, a post he held from 1905 to 1940. He speaks little of his days in the French cabinet or as head of the government, but observes in one place:

"The most beautiful moment in my public life was when in December, 1932, I sacrificed a government over which I presided, in order to respect the signature of France and not to betray our common memories of the last war."

That was when Herriot resigned as premier on the issue of the French debt to the United States.

Herriot recalls his first visit to Britain in 1906, when, with a delegation from his city council he visited several cities, and of the impression made upon him by the Englishman's love of liberty.

Politics

BRUHN ACCLAMATION?

The Salmon Arm Central Liberal Association has decided against naming a candidate for Salmon Arm constituency in the forthcoming provincial election, leaving R. W. Bruhn, Conservative, M.L.A., for the riding in the last provincial legislature, the only candidate named there so far.

Mr. Bruhn was chosen to run again by a Conservative meeting recently.

The C.C.F. have failed to name a candidate so far.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who was recently elected a fellow of the Royal Society, is considered by British scientists as having rendered conspicuous service to science by his repeated emphasis on importance of scientific developments.

Castilloux New Canadian Champ

MONTREAL (CP)—Dave Castilloux, young French-Canadian from Montreal, last night earned recognition as Canadian welterweight champion by gaining a 10-round decision over Maxie Berger, another Montrealer and defending champion. Castilloux weighed 137½ and Berger 145½.

Lionel Conacher, former defenceman with Montreal Maroons in the National Hockey League and now a member of the Ontario Athletic Commission, presented Castilloux with a red, white and blue belt after the bout. The belt was donated by Ring Boxing Magazine as an emblem of the Canadian welterweight crown.

It took six rounds for Castilloux to take any advantage over Berger. Until then Berger fought his way out of everything Dave had to offer.

Castilloux began to use his hard left in the second half of the bout and by the eighth round had punched a deep two-inch cut near Berger's right eye.

By the time the final round got under way, Berger's face was covered with blood and Castilloux poured left hooks to his chest and face. Maxie put up a fight in the last few seconds but the final bell dashed all his hopes.

In the semifinal bout, Danny Webb, 121½, Montreal, gained an easy eight-round decision over Eddie Petrin, 122, also of Montreal. Petrin's Canadian bantam-weight title was not at stake.

BOX LACROSSE OFFICIALS, team managers and players are keeping their fingers crossed. Reason—there's a sudden-death game scheduled out at the Willows Sports Centre tonight to settle the long drawn-out playoff controversy between Alerts and Jokers. Even the fans are hoping a victor will be determined once and for all when the final whistle of the referees echoes through the building.

Although proof is not available we are willing to wager the Victoria league takes the honor of being the first intermediate circuit to carry a dispute to the Canadian Lacrosse Association. One would imagine a ruling by the parent provincial body would be sufficient. After listening to the arguments pro and con at that three and a half hour meeting the other night we wonder just what would have happened had Rich Williams, sponsor of the Alerts, stuck to his guns and refused to agree to the sudden-death playoff. We imagine the boxla big wigs would have a neat little thought twister to figure out. After all Williams was in the driver's seat and could have caused the officials no little embarrassment.

Victorians face another of those sport-crammed week-ends. It looks like one of the biggest Saturday-Sunday programs of the year. Saturday's events will include the first game of the city lacrosse final between the Bays and the winner of the Alerts-Jokers game; island softball final between the Longshoremen-Causeway Service and Port Alberni; city tennis finals at the Victoria Club and intercity fights at the Crystal Garden featuring the return bout between Vic Murdoch and Jackie Turner. Sunday's event will be the international salmon derby of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association at Brentwood.

Many of the fans will be faced with the problem of deciding just what events they want to attend. That is the trouble with such a heavy schedule—some of the offerings will be drawing against one another. Most seriously hurt in this regard will be the lacrosse final and the boxing. Owing to the great amount of publicity given lacrosse, through the Alerts-Jokers squabble, the fan interest has been aroused to its highest pitch of the season.

Then again the Murdoch-Turner scrap will attract a lot of customers, owing to the controversy that followed the first meeting between the pair. At that time Murdoch was awarded the decision and many were of the opinion he received the benefit of a "home-town" verdict. Naturally these fans will want to see what happens in a return bout. There is no doubt that Turner will take Saturday's bout much more seriously than he did the first meeting. Murdoch is just as anxious to prove his first victory was deserved and would like nothing better than a second win in the record books over the Canadian flyweight titleholder.

Tennis finals and the softball games are certain to produce a play of a calibre to satisfy the most critical of spectators while the salmon derby is the classic of the year. In regard to the latter event the anglers have been working for weeks to make the competition the "best ever" and those fishermen coming over from Port Angeles to take part will be royally entertained.

Cardinals came back strong in the second game of a senior B women's playoff last night when they defeated Units, 14 to 7, to tie the series at one game apiece.

Cards garnered 18 hits from the pitching of Lillian Moore, star Unity hurler, and in the eighth inning went on a six-run spree. Units gathered seven hits and made a five-run surge in the fifth inning.

Tying the score in the second inning and taking a one-run lead in the third, H.M.C. Dockyard nine eased past V.M.D., 5 to 3. The game was a Poodle Dog Cafe knockout fixture.

HARNESS RACING FINES
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Tommy Berry, veteran trainer-driver of Lexington, Ky., was suspended for six days and fined $25 and Sep. Palin, Indianapolis veteran, was handed a $25 fine for illegal withdrawal of horses from grand circuit harness races yesterday at the Wisconsin state fair grounds.

Scored Hole in One

JOE CHANTER.

president of the Lions Club, who gave the annual Gyo Solarium Hole-in-one competition a great send-off yesterday afternoon at the Central Junior High School grounds by scoring a "dodo" five minutes after the tournament got under way. Chanter, one of the second threesome to step up on the platform during the opening ceremonies, saw his ball roll into the hole on his sixth attempt. However, Chanter was forced to share honors with young Philip Holmes who duplicated the feat in the evening.

Opening play yesterday in the hole-in-one competition produced more surprises than the proverbial grab bag at a side-show. When young Holmes scored his ace in the evening it not only won him a valuable award but also a brand new motorcycle. Here's what happened. Before taking his place on the platform Holmes was told by his father, Major H. Cuthbert Holmes, that if he sank the ball he would buy him that motorcycle he had wanted for some time.

Much to the surprise of father and son, although the former seemed to suffer from the greater amount of shock, the youngster's ball rolled towards the up and then dropped from sight. So one boy returned home last night with the knowledge a motorcycle will soon be his prized possession.

Chanter, in addition to winning the award for his perfect shot, climaxed a lucky day by drawing a half ton of coal in the tombola.

Competition was formally opened in the afternoon by F. E. Winslow, vice-chairman of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, who thanked the Gyo Club for sponsoring the affair and explained the aims and objects of the institution for crippled children. First three to hit the ball were F. G. Mulliner, chairman of the Victoria School Board; T. Percy Waters, president of the Kiwanis Club and Mr. Winslow.

During the afternoon the smart band of the Royal Canadian Navy rendered selections.

The scoring of two aces in one day must have established some kind of a record for a tournament of this kind. In hole-in-one tournaments held in other cities it has been looked upon as a real feat if one perfect shot was made during the entire event.

The Gyo affair will continue tonight and tomorrow night with the grand final on Saturday. Over 150 players qualified yesterday for Saturday's final shooting.

E. D. Todd, with a shot six and a half inches from the cup after hitting the flag, won first prize, a golf club, donated by Joe Pryke, Colwood Golf Club.

Barney Olson won a sweater donated by George Strath Ltd., after a draw with Bob Jealous. They were tied with shots 12 and a half inches away from the cup. Jealous won a pen and pencil set donated by Collison's Ltd. Mrs. Dave Hurdle won the special women's prize, two pairs of silk stockings donated by Eddy's Women's Wear.

Tombola prizes were won by the following: E. Farnden, trifle, donated by Home Furniture Company; C. Palmer, electric iron, Mackenzie, White & Duns-muir; J. G. Chanter, coal, King-ham, Gillespie Coal Co. Ltd.; E. Hemsworth, stationery, Smith, Davidson & Wright Ltd.; Mrs. Navis, chocolates, Rochon's (B.C.) Ltd.

Buried treasure prizes were won by the following players: H. H. Grant, Mrs. T. E. Watkins and F. Eves, Sidney, B.C.

U.S. Golf Opens Monday
OMAHA (AP)—Dick Chapman, the defending champion, checked in at the Omaha Field Club yesterday and thus made official the preparations for the United States Golf Association's 45th amateur championship which opens Monday.

Chapman, who has been helping to keep army fliers fit at the Montgomery, Ala., training base, made a properly impressive entrance accompanied by Mrs. Chapman and his personal golf pro, Leo Walper of Washington, D.C.

According to the pairings released yesterday by the U.S.G.A., Chapman will be paired for the two qualifying 18-hole rounds Monday and Tuesday with Mario Gonzales, the Brazilian who is the 150-man field's only foreign entry, and Tommy Sheehan of Northville, Mich., qualifying-round leader two years ago at Chicago.

First of the contenders to start in the race for the 64 match-play berths will be Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N.Y. The New York state titleholder, beaten in the 1937 final by Omaha's Johnny Goodman and in 1939 by Marin (Bud) Ward, missed by one stroke in the New York sectional eliminations. But Bobby Jacobson of Deal, N.J., withdrew, and Billows got his spot. He will have Otto Greiner of Baltimore Engagement proved an interesting pitching duel between south-paw Ritchie Nicol of Pitzer and Nex and Russ Richardson of the lodgemen. Nicol was nicked for three hits and Richardson one less. Both pitchers had fine control, nice change of pace and a neat curve ball, working. Although their respective teammates were charged with four errors the pitchers managed to keep out of serious trouble.

Eagles, grabbed off a one-run lead in the first inning and it was not until the first of the seventh that Pitzer and Nex were able to get back on even terms. From then until the umpires halted play it was a neck and neck affair.

Short score follows:

Pitzer and Nex — 1 2 4
Eagles — 1 2 4
Batteries — Nicol and Cosier; Richardson and Patterson.

Champion Beaten In City Tennis

In the men's doubles flight match T. Christie and D. Humphries defeated Lockley and Cox, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Lose Moore When Struck By 'Beamer'

The pennant problem of the National League is getting to be "Can St. Louis Cardinals keep going with all their injuries?" instead of "Can the Cardinals beat Brooklyn Dodgers?"

There have been only five games in this entire season in which manager Billy Southworth has had available the complete Cardinal line-up and the club's hospital list is beginning to read like a page out of a who's who in baseball.

Topping off a long string of accidents, Terry Moore, the best centre-fielder in the league, was struck on the head by a ball pitched by Art Johnson yesterday at Boston. He will be out of action for possibly a week.

In spite of this procession of trouble the Cardinals yesterday swept a doubleheader from the Boston Braves 2 to 0 and 3 to 2. Ernie White, the Card's great young left-hander, pitched a six hit shutout in the first game for his 15th victory and Howard Pollett, 20-year-old southpaw just brought up from the Texas League, pitched a four-hitter for his major league debut in the nightcap.

The double triumph enabled the Cards to climb within a game and a half of Brooklyn Dodgers, who were given a 7 to 6 handout by Pittsburgh Pirates for Brooklyn's sixth straight victory.

Johnny Allen, valved out of the American League by St. Louis Browns, received credit for his second National League victory with three innings of scoreless relief pitching for the Dodgers.

REDS TAKE TWO
Cincinnati Reds reinforced their third-place position by shutting out the Phillies twice, 2 to 0 and 3 to 0. John Vander Meer allowed only three hits and won his own game with a double in the opener, his 14th success, and Elmer (The Great) Riddle kept six blows scattered for his 14th triumph in the nightcap.

Chicago Cubs cut loose with a 16-hit attack as Vallee Eaves kept eight hits spaced to beat New York Giants 9 to 4.

In the American League New York Yankees were squeezed out 1 to 0 by Detroit Tigers as Tommy Bridges pitched two-hit ball for 10 innings in one of the finest performances of his long career.

Chicago White Sox chopped another game off the New York Yankees' ample lead as John Rigney blanked Philadelphia Athletics 9 to 0. It was Rigney's second shutout in two starts.

The collapsing Cleveland Indians dropped their 14th game in 15 decisions 6 to 3 to Washington Senators in a pitching duel between Arne Anderson and Al Smith which was decided in the ninth inning when the Senators scored four times to Cleveland's two.

Ted Williams hit two home runs, giving him a total of five in two days and 28 for the season, but his Boston Red Sox were beaten in both ends of a double-header by St. Louis Browns, 11 to 9 and 4 to 3.

COAST LEAGUE
Three victories on an aggregate output for four runs; four defeats without the solace of a single counter.

That gives some idea of the display of pitching brilliance which broke unexpectedly and perhaps inexplicably over a Coast League wrestling with its busy late-summer schedule of postponed baseball games. Oakland nipped Hollywood 1 to 0 last night and Hollywood in turn caught the Oaks 1 to 0. Seattle beat Sacramento 2 to 0 for the second time in a row to cut the Senators' lead to six games, and Los Angeles whitewashed San Francisco 6 to 0.

"They are nice amber beads you are wearing. My wife would appreciate a set like that," a customer in the Victoria Red Cross Store said to one of the workers there. She took off the beads, sold them, and the money went to the Red Cross.

Soldiers aren't hard-hearted. Troops from Gordon Head sometimes can be seen zig-zagging to avoid a small pile of sticks. The sticks do not represent an imaginary time bomb, but mark the nest of a skylark family, which the troops are determined not to disturb.

New streets of growing cities often are given the names of famous battles and persons in the latest war. A resident is perturbed at the thought that Victoria may yet have a Nikolaev Street, Gumbut Avenue or Dniepropetrovsk Boulevard.

AMATEURS RISE TO OCCASION

Victoria radio amateur now in uniform points out that of the 3,380 holders of amateur radio transmitting licenses at the outbreak of war, at least 1,700 are in the services, and of these 1,700 more than half are commissioned officers. Authority is the American Radio Relay League, in magazine QST, August issue. The 3,380 licenses represent Canadians of both sexes, almost every profession and all physical categories.

Lighter shades in the colors of Britain's postage stamps will permit the export of greater quantities of dyes to India and the Far East, which before the war obtained them from Germany. Denominations most popularly used—those up to and including three pence—are coming out in lighter shades. More than 20,000,000 are printed daily and the economy in dye will be great. At the same time, there will be less wear on printing cylinders.

The London Free Netherlands newspaper, Vrij Nederland, says the Nazis, angered at the success of the "V" campaign in Holland, are taking it out on the Jews. They arrested 400 Jewish Netherlands after an explosion occurred in a house in Amsterdam containing a station for jamming broadcasts. They were sent to a concentration camp.

Bob Davis, New York Sun correspondent, who frequently visits Victoria, passed through Winnipeg recently on a trip to Churchill, Man., with his wife, to get a better look at the northern lights. "The northern lights don't cost anything, and you don't have any taxes on them," he told reporters in explanation of his interest in the aurora borealis.

Quiz programs are definitely on the downhill pitch in the coming autumn set-ups, but the radio moguls are still scratching their nogginns for a satisfactory substitute.

A music teacher, in reply to a parental inquiry, writes: "I don't want to discourage you, Cedric, but if your boy hasn't got his heart and soul in music, you'll never have him go into it professionally. It's a fine thing for a young boy or girl to study music just for a lark, to pass the time away, for extra credits in school, to give him or her a basic understanding of music. And every boy or girl who studies music certainly isn't cut out to be a musician no matter how determined the efforts. Music has been a part of me ever since I was four years old. A love for song was instilled in me by my mother as she sang hymns to me every night. That love grew and grew. In later years I made every sacrifice to study and buy a battered old trombone. But that instrument became a very important part of my existence. Unless a youngster has that he'll never make a good professional musician."

Remember years ago the soap ad that always asked, "Have you a little fairy in your home?" and the ads, always showed a tiny little girl atop a cake of soap? That little lady is lost. Once she was a real person and maybe still is. The model who posed for the original picture 20 years ago is now being sought by the soap makers. There's a $100 reward waiting for her if she gets in touch with Box L, Cambridge, Mass.

FINE DISPLAY AT LANGFORD SHOW

An excellent display showing great credit to the district was the verdict given by the judges at the annual flower show held Wednesday afternoon, under the auspices of the Langford Women's Institute. Fine dahlias, gladioli and asters were particularly remarked upon. An exhibition of sunflowers, grown by F. H. Staverman, and gladioli by W. Savory were admired.

Miss L. M. A. Savory, president, was general convener. Neil Pollock and E. M. Whyte judged flowers, fruit and vegetables; Mrs. L. E. Nimmo, home cooking and canning; Mrs. E. G. Smith, children's exhibits, which included decorated tables, handicrafts, needlework and cooking. The competition in eggs was very keen.

Mrs. James Dewar, Salt Spring Island, opened the show.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Allan Boes of Winnipeg who climaxed a long golf career by copping the Manitoba amateur golf championship earlier in the summer yesterday won the provincial open crown, turning in a 36-hole score of 146 to nose out 17-year-old Bill Ezinkski of St. Boniface. Ezinkski, runner-up in the amateur tournament, carded 72-75-147, while Boes shot a two-under-par 70 over the Pine Ridge layout in the morning and added a 76 in the afternoon 18.

Loans to Russia From U.S. Likely

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jesse Jones, Federal Loan Administrator, said he was prepared to lend money to Russia to finance war supply purchases in the United States.

Jones said a loan to Russia was more likely than Lend-Lease aid, once Russia runs out of cash to pay for purchases. He said he did not know how long the Soviet's cash would last.

"If the administration policy is to help Russia and she is unable to pay cash," Jones said, "I think we (the Federal Loan Agency which includes the Reconstruction Finance Corporation), can find some way to help."

"I think it would be a loan, rather than Lend-Lease."

Russia, he added, has not made a formal application for a loan, but apparently has hinted.

Asked directly whether Russia has applied for credit, Jones smiled and replied, "not exactly."

Asked by reporters what collateral Russia would give for a loan, he said he assumed the United States would have to take Russia's promissory note for collateral. He added that Russia had one of the smallest debts of any of the major powers.

I.T.U. Raps C.I.O.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The International Typographical Union should do "everything in its power to prevent the Congress for Industrial Organization from organizing within our jurisdiction," Vice-president Jack Gill of Indianapolis, Ind., told the 85th annual convention of the I.T.U. here.

He spoke as delegates considered and then passed a resolution advising the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders, the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union and the International Stereotypers' and Electrotypers' Union that if they "do not respect the jurisdiction of the I.T.U., then the I.T.U. will not interfere with any of its subordinate unions which may organize printing trades workers not within the jurisdiction of the I.T.U."

Woodruff Randolph, secretary-treasurer, Indianapolis, opposed the latter part of the motion on the ground it would open an avenue for a local union to "organize groups that are not eligible for membership in the I.T.U."

Another resolution approved by the gathering urged the union's executive to use "their best endeavors for mediation" in "the difficult situation created by the controversy between the lithographers, printing pressmen and photoengravers in many jurisdictions."

NOT SELF-SUPPORTING Canadian locals receive more than they pay in membership fees to the International Union, officials reported during the convention.

"In the last 22 years $3,800,000 was collected in fees from Canadian locals, compared with $7,300,000 paid back by the union," said Tom Holland, International secretary.

Woodruff Randolph, I.T.U. secretary-treasurer, stated, "I frequently have to transfer $100,000 to the Ottawa office to go towards the pensions of Canadian printers."

By a vote of 140 to 98 the delegates chose Colorado Springs, Col., rather than Buffalo, N.Y., as the scene of the 1942 convention.

Banker, Disgusted, Closes Up Shop

CHICAGO (AP)—John M. Nichols who threatened for years to close his bank, the First National of Englewood, did it today.

In a letter headed, "statement of condition of close of business, August 20, 1941," Nichols wrote: "Confronted as we are today with the spectacle of a nation betrayed by its own public officers, a people divided as never before, not even in Civil War days, and on all sides a resort to the first law of self preservation, I do not care to continue as the custodian of other people's money."

"We have therefore returned all but $39,000 of a one-time high deposit of over $7,000,000, and we urge the immediate withdrawal of the small balance to enable us to close our books on 52 years of successful banking, at least for the duration of the Roosevelt concocted emergency."

Young Plan for Reparations Blamed By Thyssen for Hitler's Rise to Power

Fritz Thyssen, the German industrial magnate, was duped by the belief that National Socialism was the answer to Germany's economic predicament.

That is Thyssen's own explanation, his answer to the long-standing enigma of his paradoxical career which has been one of the war's greatest mysteries.

Thyssen supported the Nazi movement from its early days, broke with Hitler when the war started, and since has disappeared.

First he fled to Switzerland. Then the Nazis seized his property. On the French Riviera when the Germans invaded, he vanished and no word has been heard from him since.

His explanation of his strange conduct, his reflections and his regrets, are set forth in memoirs obtained from him on the Riviera by Emery Reves, French newspaper syndicate operator. They are being published by Liberty magazine.

In the chaotic days of strikes and Communist troubles in Germany just after the war, Thyssen and his father, founder of the Thyssen business, were arrested twice by insurgent forces.

"It was then I realized the necessity—if Germany was not to sink into anarchy—of fighting all this radical agitation," Thyssen says.

"The memory of those days did much to dispose me, later on, to offer my help to National Socialism, which I believed to be capable of solving in a new manner the pressing industrial and social problems."

Thyssen's idea for a stable industrial system was a "corporative" business constitution, with capital, labor and government collaborating closely—a happy medium between outright government control, which he regarded as objectionably political, and the unregulated free enterprise. Such a middle ground, he says, was what he thought Hitler's program projected.

He first met Hitler in 1923. He was impressed by Hitler's oratorical power and the discipline among his followers. Thyssen gave them 100,000 marks.

"I financed the National Socialist Party for a single definite reason: I believed the Young plan spelled catastrophe for Germany. In no sense had I been an opponent of the Dawes plan, since it envisaged a system of reparations payments to be made chiefly in goods. But under the Young plan, the German reparations deliveries were superseded entirely by money payments. In my judgment, the financial debt thus created was bound to disrupt the entire economy of the Reich."

"The Young plan was one of the principal causes of the upsurge of National Socialism in Germany. By his great adroitness, Hitler was able to harness the injured nationalism of the German people for his own purposes."

"I know that wide circles hold the opinion that this agitation against the Young plan enabled Hitler to give his party the necessary impetus to swing it into power."

"Today it has become clear that Hitler was playing a perfidious game."

Nanaimo Vulnerable Area

Wismar Stresses Need Of Security Measures

NANAIMO (CP)—Pointing out that Nanaimo is one of the most vulnerable areas on the Pacific seaboard, owing to its key position in regard to access to Vancouver Island, Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismar urged a speed-up in the community's civilian protective work in an address at the Legion Hall here last night.

Mr. Wismar spoke as part of the campaign conducted in conjunction with Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons of the B.C. Police to educate the public in regard to internal security measures.

"We have to sell this idea to the public that they must get ready for any possible emergency," he said. "And while we are living in comparative security we must be ready for actual intervention by enemies behind the lines in case of armed intervention."

The Attorney-General mentioned his recent conferences with Dr. W. O. Gildon, chief federal A.R.P. officer, and declared that the federal government was co-operating in providing information and supplies for training purposes.

"The government is assisting in organization and grant of money for necessary expenses," Mr. Wismar said.

Nanaimo, he understood, had not yet received financial assist-

Fritz Thyssen, his wife and their daughter, Countess Zichy, holding her son, Fritz August.

Altogether, Thyssen gave the party 1,000,000 marks, and he estimates the total contributions of German industry in general to the Nazi movement at 2,000,000 marks a year.

"I thought Hitler's taking of office as chancellor was merely a transitional stage before the introduction of the German monarchy."

Germany is really governed today, he says, by a sort of club of the gauleiters—the Nazi district leaders.

"This will be the party's ruin. In every system, even under Communism, the leader must be responsible for order."

Thyssen talked with Hitler numerous times. Once, he relates, Hitler told him of having to admonish a distinguished conductor for playing pieces by Jewish composers. Such goings-on, the fuhrer remarked, were as untoward as if he himself were to fall in love with a pretty Jewess.

"I had to laugh inwardly," Thyssen says, "for actually, whenever Hitler did go near a woman at all, the woman he ogled would turn out to be a Jewess."

Here in summary, is Thyssen's story of his flight:

Thyssen "had never imagined they would go so far" as to make a treaty with Russia. Summoned to the Reichstag meeting a few days before the war started, he was unable to get there and wired General Goering, as president of the chamber:

"I am against war. A war will make Germany dependent on Russia for raw materials and Germany will thus forego her position as a world power."

Hitler, announcing the invasion of Poland, said, "he who is not for me is a traitor and will be treated as such."

"This," says Thyssen, "was the reply to my telegram."

The day before he had received word that his nephew, who had been prominent in anti-Nazi activities in Austria before the annexation, had died in the Dachau concentration camp.

On September 2, Thyssen bundled his wife and son-in-law into a car, with no baggage, as if they were going on a short drive, and got across the border into Switzerland.

Thyssen wrote Goering: "I demand that the German public be informed that I, as a member of the Reichstag, voted against war." He also asked for a report on his nephew's death.

Three weeks later he received an oral message that Goering guaranteed that if Thyssen returned to Germany, he should suffer no penalty.

Thyssen told a go-between that before he would consider going back, his statement must be published.

Then his home in Juhlheim, he learned later, was searched.

In October, a month after the war started, an order was issued confiscating Thyssen's property.

Thyssen wrote directly to Hitler, reiterating his protests. "I have committed no crime," he said. "My mistake is to have believed in you, our leader."

Your new policy, Herr Hitler, is pushing Germany into the abyss and the German people into ruin."

Presently, the German government issued a warrant for his arrest "on a charge of embezzlement or something of the kind. This was just a clumsy device to obtain my extradition." The Swiss government rejected it.

Then Thyssen went to the Riviera. Soon the Germans swept in. Thyssen disappeared.

it will receive certain grants for the work necessary."

Commissioner Parsons stated there were 2,000 men and women members of civil protection organizations in British Columbia. The Provincial Police include this work with their other duties, under the direction of Inspector S. F. Moodie, but the police must have the aid of civilians if the organizations were to function properly. It was hard to bring home to the people, said Mr. Parsons, the dangers which may arise. He mentioned the Oriental situation and the many foreigners in British Columbia. "We must prepare against sabotage and subversive activity, especially the latter," he said.

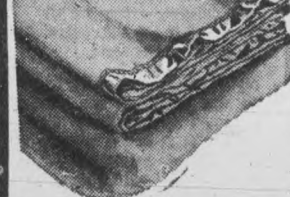

B.C. ELECTRIC PICNIC HELD

More than 100 members of the B.C. Electric Employees' Association and their families attended the annual picnic of the association yesterday at Deep Cove, leaving town by bus in the forenoon and returning in the evening at 7.30.

Fined for Not Reporting Accident

When found guilty of failing to report an accident, Roger G. Pagett was fined $20 or five days in jail by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Provincial Police Court yesterday afternoon.

Thomas Pullen said his car was damaged to the extent of $40 by a passing car while it was parked on the side of the road at Metchosin.

Pagett said he had driven a truck past the location where the car was parked but he did not know the truck had hit the car. The truck made a lot of noise, he said.

Another motorist was fined $10 and $250 costs when he pleaded guilty to speeding on the Island Highway.

A charge of dangerous driving against a third motorist was dismissed when it was not proved the owner of the car involved was the driver at the time of the alleged offence.

EVERYBODY SINGS AT BEACON HILL

Last evening at the cheer-up concert held in Beacon Hill Park, Corporal Paul Michelin, R.C.A., presented for the first time in the history of the Pacific Coast, an outdoor community sing-song with the words portrayed on a screen.

The screen was a canvas sheet, 12 feet by 14, strung between two tall trees at a height of 25 feet above the ground. A platform was used to support the projection machine.

Cpl. Paul Michelin, and his assistant, Sapper F. C. Bishop, regularly present movies and other forms of entertainment for the troops and although they had portrayed words on a screen for singers before, they had never attempted it outdoors, or on so large a scale.

The success of yesterday's outdoor sing-song brought requests for it to be made a regular feature of the cheer-up concerts.

Eight-year-old Raymond Clarke gave an accordion solo, Maxine High, Bob Hanson and Florence Pegg gave vocal solos. Mabel Irving's orchestra played dance music.

The weekly contest sponsored for men of the three services was won by Doug Peebles of the Irish Fusiliers, with his trumpet rendition, "Day Is Done." Second, was Cook Lavette of the navy with his accordion, and third was W.A.C. Hall of the air force with a vocal solo accompanied by his own guitar strumming.

As God Save the King was being played at the conclusion of the concert, a large picture of King George VI was flashed on the screen.

Among the visiting cars were 18 from England, 1 from Scotland, 1 from Wales, 8 from Washington, 9 from California and 30 from Alberta. Eighteen visitors from England signed the register. Alderman Davies announced that the next concert will be Saturday night starting at 8.30, instead of on Friday night as previously announced.

BROOKLYN (AP)—Frankie Frisch's vaudeville act of raising an umbrella during the second game of Tuesday's rainy double-header with the Dodgers cost the Pittsburgh manager $50.

Frisch received notice of his first fine of the year from president Ford Frick of the National League just before yesterday's game between the two clubs. "Now I am mad," said Frisch as he tore the telegram into pieces.

Superintendent Of Legion Here

F. J. Townsend, who has been appointed B.C. supervisor for Canadian Legion War services, has arrived in Victoria on an inspection trip of the auxiliary services' work being carried on under the area supervisor, H. L. Butters.

Mr. Townsend, who was released by the Vancouver School Board at the beginning of the year, has been engaged in organizing educational courses in the air training schools and camps in the four western provinces.

These courses have provided the men with the opportunity of becoming more efficient in the services and qualifying them for air crews.

More than 5,000 men, from Port Arthur to the coast, are studying various subjects and the courses have made it possible for many of them to get in line for promotion, which would have been impossible without the necessary educational qualifications.

Among those taking the courses, Mr. Townsend points out, were some airmen who came from other parts of the Empire under the Commonwealth Training Plan. Young Englishmen were particularly appreciative. They are to continue their studies and in England paid for courses. They were delighted to find the legion courses were available to them free in Canada.

Throughout the services, from one end of Canada to the other, the education courses have been in great demand, Mr. Townsend said.

Alderman Williams voiced the opinion the area should not be used as a public parking place from 8 in the morning to 6 at night. Hour parking had been recommended there by the police commission, he noted.

The issue was referred to the council for consideration at its next session.

During the session Alderman George put forward several suggestions. His proposal that occupants of stores be required to sweep sidewalks had been covered by a city by-law, F. L. Shaw, city solicitor, reported.

When he advanced the plan of distributing more receptacles to hold rubbish, Alderman Williams told him such cans had been placed around town a few years ago and had been found to be a waste of money. Alderman George noted the city had received an offer to provide the receptacles at no cost provided advertising space were made available on them.

He drew particular attention to the conditions of gutters on Yates, Douglas and Blanshard Streets as well as Pandora Avenue. He also advanced a scheme to carry on an educational program among school children to have them exercise care in keeping streets clean.

TO SEEK DATA

Alderman W. L. Morgan stated he would write Salt Lake City, Utah, reputedly the cleanest city on the continent, to determine the method it used to avoid litter.

POINTS TO LAW AGAINST LITTER

If the city enforced section 113 of its streets traffic and regulation by-law, No. 2,888, it would keep the streets tidy or collect enough revenue in fines to eliminate the necessity of taxation, in the opinion of Cecil French.

To support his contention, Mr. French points to the appropriate clause in the by-law which reads: "No persons shall throw, leave, deposit or place, or cause to be thrown, left, deposited or placed, or suffer or permit his or her servant or servants, or workmen or workmen, to throw, leave, deposit or place any dead animal, carrion, putrid meat or the entrails of any animal or fish, or decayed vegetables, night soil or other refuse, matter or thing injurious to the public health, or any straw, shells, glass, crockery, cans, tinware, chips, dung, filth, orange peel, banana peel or fruit peel of any kind, packing paper or handbills, or paper of any kind or other matters or things dangerous to traffic, or other rubbish of any kind, in or upon any street or public place or vacant lot or vacant ground within the municipality; provided that nothing therein contained shall prevent the ordinary manuring of ground used for garden or agricultural purposes within the said city."

Mr. French states he counted 12 pieces of scrap paper on a street and sidewalk between Government and Gordon Streets. He suggests that number be multiplied by several hundred similar blocks, that police round up the thousands responsible for the litter and the court fine them the maximum $100 each. The result, he suggests, would be several thousands of dollars in the city treasury. He adds the corollary "no taxes to pay next year."

'John the Baptist'
Criticizes Seamen

"Seamen have no right to protest during a national emergency," says "John the Baptist" Greenlaw, retired ship's carpenter, marine reservist and former Victorian, after reading of the crew of the deep-sea vessel which has been lying idle at Victoria for the last 11 months and who say they won't sail a 7,500-ton cargo of scrap iron to Japan.

Mr. Greenlaw, who makes his home in San Francisco, is in Victoria on vacation. He was employed by the Canadian Pacific, working on coast steamships for a number of years. Twenty years ago he was widely known in these parts as an evangelist preacher.

"When young men are being called up, giving up good jobs to serve for small pay, seamen have no right to oppose the government," he said. "It's uncalled for, a form of insubordination."

"In this case the crew are not just criticizing the company. They are opposing the government."

"The men are considering their own interests. They are not thinking of the national emergency. It is a form of sea-lawyerism, which should be condemned by all right-thinking seamen during this crisis."

Parents Surprised

Mr. and Mrs. George Lafin, 141 Et Street, were pleasantly surprised yesterday when they received a long-distance telephone call from their son Jack, a bridge cadet aboard the liner Empress of Russia, from Newport News, Virginia.

The Empress of Russia, which formerly operated out of Victoria in the trans-Pacific trade, was reported in news dispatches yesterday arriving at Newport News for drydocking.

Jack Lafin, who served on the training ship H.M.S. Conway, has been on the Empress of Russia for about two years and has seen much of the world in that time.

The telephone call yesterday was the first intimation Mr. and Mrs. Lafin had of the presence of their son in North America.

Football Club was registered under the Societies Act.

Voters' List

Naturalization
Must Be Proved

Persons who have become British subjects through naturalization must produce proof of their naturalization to register on the provincial voters list, according to announcement by the district registrar today.

Those unable to furnish documents in support of their claims may consult the registrar at 614 View Street in an effort to establish their positions.

Enumerators have covered a large part of the Victoria, Oak Bay and Saanich electoral districts in their house-to-house canvass and expect to have the main part of their work completed by August 23.

Registrations will be accepted up to 16 clear days before nomination day, the date of which has not yet been set.

All desiring to vote in the above districts are advised to register before closing day, if not through the enumerators, through the registrar at his View Street office.

Special enumerators are now covering the hospitals and are taking the names of those well enough to register.

In Esquimalt commissioners are covering the district to enable those not on the list to register if they are qualified. In the rural divisions the commissioners stay approximately two days in each polling division receiving applications.

Telephone inquiries on all matters of registration may be made through E1111, local 379.

Labor Policy
Faces Test

The British Columbia Conciliation and Arbitration Act, which embodies the government's policy for dealing with labor disputes, faced a serious test today after arbitration proceedings in a dispute between American Can Company and its employees in Vancouver collapsed.

The legal life of the board, headed by Mr. Justice Sidney Smith, expired yesterday before its hearings were completed when representatives of the company declined to agree to an extension of time.

Thus conciliation and arbitration proceedings broke down in an unfinished state and, so far as could be learned at the Legislative Buildings, there was no formula to rescue them unless one side or the other applied to begin all over again. The act itself apparently did not provide a way out.

21 Caddies Go to Banff, More Needed

Up until 2 this afternoon 21 young Victoria men had taken advantage of the offer of a free trip to Banff to caddy in the annual golf tournament at the C.P.R. resort, starting Sunday and continuing all next week.

W. A. Reynolds, assistant manager of the Empress Hotel, who is accepting the applications, stated today there was still a number of caddies needed, but they would have to interview him by tomorrow morning at the latest.

The offer is being made by the C.P.R. owing to the Banff National Park being closed to all youngsters 18 and under through the outbreak of infantile paralysis in Alberta.

IMPRESSIVE RITES
FOR FLYING OFFICER

With his flying officer's cap resting atop of the flag-draped coffin, together with a magnificent floral tribute in the shape of an airplane, the remains of Flying Officer Ian Sutherland Brown, who was killed in an airplane crash near Calgary last week, were laid to rest in Royal Oak Burial Park today.

The remains arrived in Victoria this morning and were conveyed to the family residence, 1931 Bowker Place, whence the cortege left at 11 o'clock for St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, where the funeral service was held. Ven. Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunn conducted the impressive service, assisted by Bishop Sexton and Rev. Cyril Venables, in the presence of a congregation which filled the church to overflowing and included members of the three services, as well as a host of personal friends.

The R.C.A. band was in attendance and played the Dead March in Saul as the casket was borne into the church, and at the grave at Royal Oak, Captain Chas. Wilson piped the remains to their last resting place with a Highland lament. The pallbearers were: Flt. Lieut. C. G. W. Chapman, F.O. R. W. Day, F.O. W. B. Purvis, F.O. D. Z. T. Wood, F.O. B. C. Ward, who escorted the body from Calgary, Lieut. L. J. Howard, R.C.A., and, as honorary pallbearers, D. G. Fladgate and A. H. Mitchell. The Western Air Command headquarters was represented at the funeral by F.O. E. V. T. and F.O. Lance Duke and Squadron Leader W. R. Maxwell.

Masses of beautiful flowers from far and near surrounded the casket and required extra cars for conveyance to the cemetery.

MCBRIDE—Masonic funeral rites were conducted in Cranbrook this week for James D. McBride, 74, a member for 41 years and a past master, who died following injuries received in an automobile accident at Spokane last week. Mr. McBride went to the district from Ontario in 1900 and started in the hardware business. He sold out in 1920 and went to California only to return about six years ago and repurchase the business.

SHILL—Private funeral service for James Shill was held yesterday afternoon in the chapel of Sands Mortuary. Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunn officiated. The following were pallbearers: Lester and William Shells, Robert Graham, H. B. MacLean, E. P. Allen and George MacKenzie. Cremation at Royal Oak.

MUGFORD—The funeral of Robert Burns Mugford was held yesterday afternoon at Knox Presbyterian Church, Sooke, the service being conducted by Rev. Samuel Lundie, Rev. A. M. Munro, and Rev. G. L. Formal Dress
For Fire Fighting

"Oh for the life of a fire chief," was the comment passed by spectators of a blaze in a tar boiler at the Sidney Rubber Roofing Company plant on the industrial reserve last night when they saw Fire Chief Alex Munroe of the city department arrive on the scene in formal evening dress.

The chief was called from a lodge meeting to the fire, which could have been serious had it not been for the efficiency of the department.

Arriving in a top coat over evening dress, the chief quickly disrobed down to his dress shirt, slipped on a heavy fireman's coat, rubber boots and helmet, and was on the job of instructing his men in battling the blaze.

Firemen were called at 8.40 and the last piece of fire fighting equipment returned to the fire hall at 10.30. The fire started when a tar boiler at the rear of the company's paint shop boiled over. Difficulty was experienced at first in extinguishing the fire, heat from which was terrific, but when a new piece of equipment, a fog nozzle, was put into action, the flames quickly subsided.

The city department had a busy night. At 10.30 firemen attended a chimney fire at 2810 Gosworth Street and from there went to a garage and grass fire at 2915 Prior Street. Also, at 10.30, they were called to extinguish a small fire in a car owned by Mrs. Paterdale, Mount Tolmie P.O., at the Beacon Hill Park lookout.

At 4.03 this morning the department put out a burning fence at 141 Port Street.

The Saanich department yesterday afternoon extinguished a grass and bush fire at the Elk Lake picnic grounds at 2.15; a grass fire at Leaside and Glanford Avenue at 8.25 last evening and a rubbish fire at 1630 McRae Avenue at 8.15.

Oak Bay firemen attended grass fires at 3100 Weald Street at 9.08 last night and at 800 Beach Drive at 5.19 last evening.

Drowning Averted

Peter Nettleton, 10 years, Calgary, was saved from drowning Monday afternoon at Gonzales Bay when he was dragged from the water by Nigel Smith, 12 years, Los Angeles, after he had fallen off a raft.

Peter could not swim but had gone over his head on the raft. He fell off and on seeing him struggling and hearing his cries for help, young Smith dived in the water and succeeded in dragging him to shore.

Johnny James, an Indian represented by Allan Baker, was remanded until next Wednesday when he appeared in Provincial Police Court on a charge of retaining in his possession goods valued at $5 knowing them to have been stolen.

IMPORTANT TO TOURISTS

When visitors to Victoria know TERRY'S, they don't require to know very much more. For what they can't get or find out at this old-established Department Drug Store isn't very important. Here they can lunch lightly or dine completely—at extremely moderate charges. They will find all that they'd expect to find in a REAL Drug Store. Quick, efficient Kodak service. Smokes, sweets and souvenires. And you'll like the busy fountain. Yes, decidedly, Terry's at Fort and Douglas IS "Important to Tourists."

REPORTER IN TRAIN HOLD-UP

Republic's latest Roy Rogers picture deals with bandits raising havoc around Cheyenne at an earlier time. "In Old Cheyenne," currently at the Rio Theatre, introduces Roy as a reporter, assigned to discover the facts about one notorious "Arapahoe Brown," supposed ringleader of the gang.

On the train he meets Dolores Casino (Joan Woodbury) half-Spanish half-Irish dancer whose father, Tim Casey, owns the local newspaper. Their budding romance is interrupted by Brown's men holding up the train. Roy determines to ferret Arapahoe Brown from his nest in the badlands and find out some facts about the cattle-rustling and wholesale robberies.

'JUAREZ' HIGH CALIBRE FILM

The York Theatre starting today presents the historical saga "Juarez."

Sufficient to justify interest is the fact that it co-stars Paul Muni and Bette Davis. And these two distinguished artists are aided by such notables of the screen as Brian Aherne, Claude Rains, John Garfield, Donald Crisp, Joseph Calleia, Gale Sondergaard, Gilbert Roland, Henry O'Neill, Harry Davenport, Montagu Love, John Miljan, Vladimir Sokoloff and Monte Blue.

NED SPARKS IN PLAZA FEATURE

"For Beauty's Sake," a smart, swiftly-paced film from 20th Century-Fox opened its engagement at the Plaza Theatre today. Ned Sparks, Marjorie Weaver, Ted North and Joan Davis head the fine featured cast.

Based on Clarence Budington Kelland's grand American Magazine story, "For Beauty's Sake," skillfully blends fun, romance and mystery. It narrates the exciting experiences of North as a handsome woman-hater who is handed a swank beauty salon full of glamorous, clamorous cuties, with a red-hot murder mystery tossed in.

Portraying a starry-eyed beauty out to change North's mind about women, Marjorie Weaver appoints herself his assistant at the beauty salon. Sourpuss Ned Sparks plays a demon press agent and Joan Davis is his dream girl.

Although the young man's hands are full with the duties of running the beauty salon more trouble follows when a gang of ruthless blackmailers makes determined efforts to get control of the place as a front for their activities. But in an exciting climax the beauty salon is saved, the murder solved and the woman-hater falls hard for beautiful Marjorie.

"Meet John Doe," the new Frank Capra picture starring Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck, tonight at the Atlas Theatre.

"Meet John Doe" was produced and directed by Frank Capra at the Warner studios in Burbank, Calif., from a script by Robert Riskin.

Barbara Stanwyck is no novice to Capra productions, having won her first big film success in an earlier Capra picture, "Ladies of Leisure."

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug Stores, or any drugist, and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your drugist will gladly return your money.

Iroquois to Make 2 Sailings Daily

Due to a special emergency, the Canadian Pacific steamers Princess Elizabeth and Princess Joan will be withdrawn from service between Port Angeles and Victoria on and after September 2. It was announced today by C. V. LaFarge, traffic manager, Puget Sound Navigation Company. During the summer, these steamers have been maintaining an extra Victoria-Port Angeles service under arrangement between the C.P.R. and Black Ball Line.

"They are being withdrawn because they are needed for our own services," it was stated at the B.C. Coast Service of the C.P.R. this morning.

To provide service from September 3 to 7, the ferry Iroquois will make an extra trip from Port Angeles to Victoria, announces Mr. LaFarge, operating on the following emergency schedule: leave Seattle daily at 11:59 p.m.; Port Townsend, 3:15 a.m.; Port Angeles, 7 a.m.; arrive Victoria 8:35 a.m.; leave Victoria 9:15 a.m.; arrive Port Angeles, 10:55 a.m.; leave Port Angeles, noon; arrive Victoria, 1:35 p.m.; leave Victoria, 2:15 p.m.; arrive Port Angeles, 3:55 p.m., proceeding to Seattle.

After September 7 the Iroquois will revert to one round-trip sailing daily, arriving here at 8:35 a.m. and leaving at 9:15 a.m.

Voltaire Casualties

LONDON (CP Cable)—Casualties aboard the armed merchant cruiser Voltaire, which the Admiralty announced on May 3 to be overdue and presumed lost, comprised 73 killed, one who died of wounds, and 190 who are prisoners of war, the Admiralty disclosed today. Among the prisoners is temporary acting surgeon, Lieut.-Cmdr. C. M. Fisher of the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve. The Voltaire, 13,301 tons, was a former passenger liner converted into an auxiliary cruiser.

U.S. NAVY CONVOY SAFELY COMPLETED

By TOM HORGAN
A RECENTLY OCCUPIED UNITED STATES OUTPOST (AP)—One of the most important operations by the United States navy since the first Great War was completed today when a sizeable convoy was brought safely to its destination here.

The number of men and vessels involved and the identities of the ships and their commanders are withheld as a military secret, as well as the nature of the materials and equipment transported.

Full wartime precautions were enforced throughout the zig-zag voyage, which was conducted under secret orders. Ships moving in the darkness of the night did not even have their running lights burning.

The fact that the various units of the convoy were able to keep their positions and avoid collision under the difficult circumstances and in thick weather was a tribute to naval seamanship, and brought the compliment, "Well done, from the convoy commander to the officers and men engaged in the operation."

Ship radios were silenced throughout the daylight hours, planes patrolled a wide area around the convoy.

It was learned that the navy has developed a remarkably efficient secret carrier landing technique believed to be superior to that of any other nation.

There were only two aerial mishaps throughout the voyage, two planes being forced down by mechanical failures. Their crews were rescued and the planes salvaged.

Gun crews remained at their stations throughout the fleet, keeping a sharp lookout for possible unfriendly visitors at all times.

The convoy received another incentive for vigilance when it traversed an area dotted with flotsam, including an unoccupied life raft, bales of cotton or wool, timbers and the lonely drifting body of a man with a black beard.

Amusement swept through the convoy when one ship signaled that she wished to slow down in order to shake off a whale which had been struck and impaled on her bow.

Cruel Deeds Performed by Ivan the Terrible

Of all the men in the past history of Russia, Ivan the Terrible has the name of having been the most cruel. When we study his life, it seems clear that among the czars he can be called "the first and the worst."

Ivan was born in the year 1532. When he was only three years old, his father died. Six years later his mother was poisoned, so he was left an orphan at the age of nine.

The men who ruled Muscovy, or Russia, while he was growing up were not of a good type. They did not train the young prince to be kind; instead they acted as though they were pleased when he showed a streak of cruelty.

At the age of 16, Ivan was crowned "Grand Prince of Muscovy," the same title his father had carried. He also took to himself the title of czar, which had not been used in Russia before that time.

In the early years of his reign, he showed his cruelty only now and then. He even made efforts to bring about better laws.

Then came a period in which he performed the deeds which, added together, caused people to call him "the Terrible." Members of his court were tortured and put to death. Soldiers were sent forth to hunt down those who were suspected of being against the czar; many persons were captured and killed even though there was little or no proof against them.

One day a high officer of the Russian Orthodox Catholic church told the czar that he should mend his ways. Ivan ordered him dragged from the altar and had him cast into prison. Later the churchman (now known as Saint Philip) was put to death.

From the old city of Novgorod came a report that the gates were to be thrown open to the Poles. Ivan did not wait to find out who, if anyone, was guilty of such a plot. His soldiers were sent to Novgorod, and in six weeks they shot and killed about 60,000 of the people living there.

When he was 51 years of age, Ivan in a fit of rage struck his eldest son with a bar of iron, and the blow brought death. The czar was sorry about this deed, and grieved over it until his death four years later.

Like Nero, cruel emperor of ancient Rome, it seems certain that Ivan was insane or at least had "streaks of madness." It is a sad fact that persons with sick brains sometimes obtain places of power, and then are able to spread sorrow and suffering.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have been married 15 years. Am still young and enjoy living. My husband is a good provider. We have a beautiful home and two lovely youngsters. I do all of my own sewing and housework. My husband tells me that I would be an ideal wife if I didn't care to smoke or play bridge. Now I only play bridge once a week and I do not smoke excessively. I have waited on my husband hand and foot all these years and have endeavored to do everything possible to make him happy and comfortable, but I am not going to give up my bridge, which is my only outside pleasure. I love my husband, but I cannot permit him to take away every scintilla of my personal liberty. After all, I never tell him what he can or cannot do. Just what is your opinion of a man who will let a little innocent game of bridge and an occasional cigarette separate him from an otherwise ideal wife?

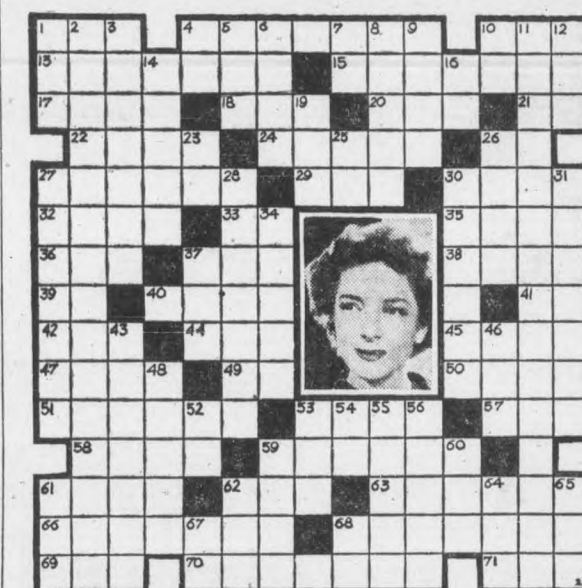

INDIGNANT WIFE.

Answer: No man ever makes a bigger mistake than when he deprives his wife of any innocent amusement and tries to keep her shut up inside of the four walls of her home. Yet many husbands do this because they are the victims of the old superstition that a woman should be like the turtle and carry her house on her back, though why, goodness only knows. Turtles don't get very far. Nor are they interesting and amusing as household pets.

Still the idea prevails among old-fashioned husbands that there is something meritorious in a woman being a stay-at-home and never going places or seeing things and having no conversational range beyond the children and the next-door neighbors and the price of pork chops.

EUROPE'S MIRROR OF 1824

Back in 1824, if we can trust an article in the Fincastle Mirror of August 6, 1824, Europe's millions were in the control of an international "syndicate" known as the Holy Alliance, whose members would make Adolf Hitler look like a piker. The founder of this syndicate, the emperor of Russia, Alexander I, is "at the head of this holy of holies. A hypocrite, tainted with the suspicion of murdering his father, he wears the double face of a Christian and a persecutor of religion. The friend of peace, he is the bloody engenderer of war, an advocate of liberty, he is an unbending tyrant."

The Fincastle Mirror then produces the dossier of Francis, Emperor of Austria: "A brainless Dutchman, destitute of virtue, traitor and joint murderer of his son-in-law, and the jailer of his daughter and grandson." (It may be recalled that the great Napoleon, the "son-in-law," had died at St. Helena a few years before this date. His widow, Marie Louise, and his son, the young king of Rome, were under the protection of the Holy Alliance.)

George IV of England appears as "the reputed assassin of his wife and daughter, the drunkard and the debauchee," while Louis XVIII of France "is or the borders of the grave, publicly keeps his mistress," and carries "hands toward hands, stained with the blood of Frenchmen and Spaniards." He has "just wit enough to be a scoundrel."

The king of Prussia is "crazy," Bernadotte has "drawn his sword against the man who raised him from the dust to a throne. As to the kings of Spain, Naples, Denmark, Holland and Saxony, they are mere cyphers. Such are the arbiters of millions, such the men who trample on liberty and justice and the rights of man."

As Europe's millions overcame those "arbiters," so the evil dictators who are their successors will be humbled in the present test.

JUNGLE BEAT

Sabu and Alexander Korda made a brilliant artistic and commercial success of "Drums." Primitive tribes in Africa are still using the percussion instrument as a form of jungle telegraph, according to reports. The beat of the tom-tom, or its equivalent, sets the torso of the Polynesian in motion in the South Seas' characteristic dance.

But up at Cigarmakers Bay, where there used to be a long, warm, summer evening's quiet, where peace was broken only occasionally by the wild cry of a loon, the chatter of a squirrel and the not unmelodious croaking of a tree toad, they are trying to forget drums.

They admit there is a place for drums. No parade is complete without them. Every band must have its quota and the so-called less civilized should not be deprived of their main allegedly-musical instrument. They'll make other admissions regarding the appropriateness of drums under certain circumstances. But tympany has little appeal for them now.

All summer long in Cigarmakers Bay the phrenetic clashing of traps and cymbals, temple blocks and the allied paraphernalia of that peculiar form of expression has jarred the sensibilities of those who retire to the lake for rest and relaxation.

According to report, the equipment is owned by a fair-haired adolescent reputedly very polite to his elders, and something of a devil of a fellow to those who like their noise in beating rhythm. He plays to gramophone records, crashing out his hysteria at any time of the day and on into the otherwise perfect starlit night. When he tires—and his wrists are strong—another takes up the task.

Because they are peaceful folk and because the majority of them have children who make the usual racket of youngsters, the people of Cigarmakers Bay have done little to stop the cacophony.

Subconsciously, though, a strange condition is being created. More than one of the "regulars" retires at night to the beat, beat, beat of the tom-tom and his mind works in the tortuous and sadistic trend of the barbarian. He sees himself with a pair of drumsticks, heavy ones, battering a tattoo on the percussion-distorted head of the fair-haired boy. He rises, shocked, and wanders beside the lake, wondering how the drums would sound after 24 hours immersion somewhere between the shoreline and the island.

And he contemplates with fright his possible reactions should his child, writing a December letter to the Gentleman of the North Pole, set down the words: "And, Dear Santa, please bring me a drum."

Malta Now Base

LONDON (CP)—Air Secretary Sir Archibald Sinclair, in congratulating the Royal Air Force at Malta today, mentioned the "deadly slogging at enemy ports" by Wellington bombers—the first official indication that that besieged Mediterranean island now is being used as an offensive base.

Reconnaissance flights from the island are made by United States-built Maryland bombers.

Informed sources said it was likely that recent attacks on Tripoli, Sicilian harbors and air-dromes and Axis shipping in the central Mediterranean were made by planes based on Malta.

Sir Archibald told airmen there they were "draining the enemy's strength in the Mediterranean," and praised the Maryland units for "daring dexterous reconnaissance," the Hurricanes for "audacious attacks on enemy air bases," and the Blenheims and Swordfish for their "tremendous onslaughts on Axis shipping."

King Visit Starts Press Talk For Empire Council of War

LONDON (CP)—Arrival in London of Prime Minister Mackenzie King today touched off a discussion in the afternoon press of how the Dominions can best be represented in the Empire's war councils.

The Evening News said representation of the Dominions in the United Kingdom war cabinet is a war problem which must be solved.

"Is there not some way by which the Dominions can appoint plenipotentiaries in this country, men of higher authority than a high commissioner, men free to be in constant consultation with the war cabinet?" asked the Evening News.

The Star recalled Prime Minister Churchill had said he would welcome an Imperial Conference at the opportune time and said Mr. King's arrival brought the prospect nearer.

The paper remarked that Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand is here, Australia is discussing a visit by Prime Minister R. G. Menzies, and that the visit to the Middle East fronts of Prime Minister Jan Smuts of South Africa seemed to show a visit to Britain by him was not impossible.

NEED BEST MINDS

"We need the Empire's best minds with us, first in winning the war and then in facing the great world-wide task of reconstruction which will follow victory," the Star declared.

"Plainly big decisions are to be taken on how and where the Empire's power shall strike," said the Daily Express. "The more Empire statesmen we have at the war cabinet meetings the more confidence we shall have that the decisions made can and will be carried out."

"It is welcome news that Mackenzie King has been able to accept the invitation of our government," said the Daily Telegraph.

The newspaper said the obstacles to an Imperial war conference had not prevented considerable effective consultation. The Telegraph added that collaboration by Empire statesmen should be developed to the utmost.

OPPORTUNE VISIT

The Times, devoting a column to the arrival, sketched Canada's war effort and praised the Dominion Prime Minister for his work in bringing about closer cooperation between Britain and the United States.

"Mackenzie King's arrival, though arranged some time ago, follows opportunely upon the Atlantic conference between Roosevelt and Churchill," the Times said. "Canada has been called the bridge between the British Empire and the United States. Certainly no Prime Minister in any country of the Empire has realized more clearly than Mackenzie King the vital importance of the closest possible co-operation between the two great English-speaking peoples or worked harder to bring it about."

RIBBENTROP'S HEADACHE

The Daily Mail said the news of Mr. King's presence means "another headache for Ribbentrop" because the Nazi Foreign Minister had always told Hitler that Canada would stay neutral in any European war.

The Mail said the Dominions were entitled to "direct participation" in the directions of the conflict and added that "appointment now to the inner war cabinet of one representative of all the Dominions" would be generally welcomed. The newspaper suggested that Mr. Menzies would be the man if he could be spared from Australia.

REUNION

Reunion after 24 years of C. K. CHRISTIAN, Michigan delegate, and BILL CARR, Vancouver, took place at the International Typographical Convention in Vancouver.

Carr, an accomplished baritone, stepped to the platform to sing a solo and was recognized by Christian as a sidekick of his in the 13th field ambulance of the Canadian Fourth Division in the first Great War.

NARROW ESCAPE

MRS. SANTA VELOTTI, 32, came flying out of the third-story window of her home in Newark and landed squarely in her infant's baby carriage.

After a moment of stunned surprise, she struggled out of the carriage, shook herself and walked away—unhurt.

Just as shocked was her son, Joseph, 13, who stood amazed with his 14-month-old brother Richard in his arms. Joe was about to place the baby in the carriage when he heard a scream from above.

The husband, Morris, stared out of the window, mixed panic and bewilderment on his face. The two parents had been arguing, police said.

The baby carriage suffered a broken wheel.

Members of the Waltham, Mass., Rotary Club went on a noon diet to assist British war relief. Twenty-five members ate crackers and milk at $1 a person. The difference between the cost of the food and the amount paid will go to the British fund.

CUB RATE FOR F.D.R.

The New York Daily Mirror sent a cheque for $5.94 to PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT—cub headline writer's pay for one day under the Mirror's contract scale—for an editorial suggestion by the President which the Mirror adopted.

The President, after having quoted from Carl Sandburg's book on Abraham Lincoln at a press conference, was asked by a reporter what sort of a head the president would put on the story. Mr. Roosevelt suggested: "President Quotes Lincoln and Draws Parallel."

That was the Mirror headline. The Mirror said it deducted from the $6 daily wage rate six cents for social security (the President may thus draw 12 cents at the age of 65) and would pay 18 cents state unemployment tax.

Nazi Grip on Italy Slowly Tightening

LONDON (CP)—Gradual tightening of the Gestapo's grip on Rome and Italy generally is described in a dispatch by the Daily Telegraph from its correspondent in Lisbon.

The correspondent said the information was given him by a neutral who has lived in Rome since before the war.

The German's have opened a new "club" in the artists' quarter of the Italian capital, the dispatch said. From it are directed the activities of the Gestapo, which now controls every sphere of Italian life.

The dispatch continues: "The Gestapo, I was told, has two unofficial headquarters where the agents headquarter and meet informants. One is Albrecht's Beerhouse, an old-established German resort, the other is a small restaurant which, under English management, used to serve such delicacies as steak and kidney pudding and apple pie to British exiles.

"Open and constant watch is kept on German residents in Rome. The Gestapo makes continual visits to their houses. Any German without a regular occupation is the object of suspicion and frequent grilling. More secretly, the Gestapo watches the movements of neutral foreigners. 'Some of them, notably Americans, are shadowed by a succession of sleuths from the time they leave home until they go to bed.'"
